Turkey, Greece Near All-Out War

TURKISH SOLDIERS ON THE ATTACK (UPI Telephoto)

By United Press International

Turkey launched massive air, ank and naval strikes against Greek Cypriot positions on Cyprus today in an offensive that threatened partition of the island. The Turks encircled the Nicosia airport and the U.N. troops there and destroyed the ·ity's industrial area.

The attacks brought Greece and Turkey close to war and threatened to collapse NATO's southern flank.

Greece announced it was withdrawing its armed forces from NATO for its failure to prevent what it called a Turkish Pearl Harbor and Athens reports said the Greek army had been placed on a full war footing.

Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit said in Ankara he did not believe Greece would cause a Greco-Turkish war. He called the Cyprus action a "peace operation" and said the military operation was proceeding in "perfect order."

The 14 other members of NATO pleaded with Greece to reconsider its action—which could mean the removal of U.S. nuclear deterrents from Greece—and called on Turkey to respect the cease-fire ordered by the U.N. Security Council. The pleas had no effect.

In Washington President Ford, facing the first major international problem of his administration, met with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to consider ways of using U.S. diplomacy to stop the fighting. Kissinger had intervened previously in Turkish-Greek-British peace talks but failed to prevent today's developments.

U.S. officials said the United States is taking an initial "wait-and-see" attitude toward the withdrawal of Greek troops from NATO, but has stepped up diplomatic efforts to bring Greece and Turkey back to the conference table and avoid a major war over Cyprus.

The Geneva talks collapsed early today and Britain called an urgent session of the Security Council in New York at 3:30 a.m. EDT. The council required only 10 minutes to pass a unanimous resolution asking for a cease-fire. So far the cease-fire has been ignored.

Turkish troops were moving eastward from the Kyrenia area toward the port of Lefka and eastward toward the more important port of Famagusta. The twin moves there and in the Nicosia area would effectively partition Cyprus by military force.

Beginning at dawn, wave after wave of American-made Phantom fighter-bombers of the Turkish air force streaked out of the sun to bomb and strafe the capital while Turkish artillery hammered Greek Cypriot positions in the Kyrenian mountain range about 15 miles to the north.

Radio Nicosia, monitored in Israel, also said Turkish planes bombed Famagusta.

Bombs burst through the industrial section at the east end of Nicosia. It burned for hours, sending up a tower of black smoke into the clear blue sky, and industrialists who took refuge in a hotel said the damage will cripple the island's economy for years.

The heaviest fighting centered at Mia Milea, two miles northeast of Nicosia, and near the airport about five miles southwest of the capital where strong Turkish forces cut off two vital road junctions and encircled the damaged installation, a U.N. spokesman said.

The eruption of renewed warfare following the July 22 cease-fire wounded 20 U.N. soldiers, including six Finns who have been under a constant mortar barrage at their camp near the airport, the spokesman said.

"The Turks are encircling the airport, which is still under U.N. control, while strong Turkish forces supported by heavy armor and artillery are pushing east of Nicosia toward the vital port of Famagusta," the spokesman said.

He said U.N. troops did not enter combat and they would not fire unless attacked at the airport, where four British U.N. troops have been wounded in Turkish bombing runs. U.N. forces took control of the airport following the three-day July war and said they would defend it even if attacked.

The Greek Cypriot government headed by President Glafkos Clerides filed a complaint to the United Nations describing the outbreak of fighting as a "dastardly, unprovoked aggression and indiscriminate bombing of Nicosia and its suburbs," the spokesman said.

Impeach Vote To Cost Fish Some Support

By LYNN MULVANEY

TOWN OF ULSTER

Town of Ulster Republican Committee which has repeatedly provided Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., with one of the largest pluralities of any town in the 25th District has agreed unanimously that it "cannot continue to support" the congressman due to his vote for the first article of impeachment against former President Richard M. Nixon.

At a recent meeting the 26 members of the committee "unanimously and without reservation voiced their extreme displeasure" over the vote calling it "a bi-partisan approach to such an obviously partisan issue."

After Fish's decision to impeach the President, it is reported that many committeemen expressed a great deal of anxiety and deep concern and called "an immediate meeting of the committee" at which the vote was taken.

The committee stated that it could not continue to support as its representative "one who participates in a bi-partisan effort to destroy an elected Republican official (in this case the President of the United States) on such groundless evidence as hearsay, insinuation, and media produced accusations."

Although Town of Ulster GOP does not plan to support Fish, it is not anticipated that it will support anyone else for the post.

Following the congressman's vote in favor of two articles of impeachment, Fish said he came to that conclusion only after long deliberation and because analysis of the evidence developed led him to "the inescapable conclusion that Nixon attempted to commit and conceal illegal acts during his administration."

It has also been reported that some Saugerties committeemen are also disgruntled over Fish's vote but no meetings have been called and no formal action taken. Republican Town Chairman Henry Breitenbach said that any expressions of opinion would have to come from the individuals themselves rather than from the committee as a whole.

In the City of Kingston, which is also in the congressman's District, GOP Chairman Frank Fabbie said he has not received one phone call from a committee member dissatisfied with Fish's stand on impeachment.

Town of Ulster committeemen however reportedly felt let down by Fish's position indicating that his actions were not truly representative of his constituency's feelings. The committeemen said they were once proud to have been one of the original supporters of Fish when he first sought office.

Fish first ran for Congress in 1966 and lost to the late Democratic Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick. He ran again in 1968, defeating John Dyson of Millbrook. In order to get the nomination to run that year, ironically he had to first defeat now convicted Watergate plumber G. Gordon Liddy in a GOP primary.

In 1970, Fish resoundingly defeated John J. Greaney an East Durham lawyer and in 1972 he piled up an impressive plurality over Democrat John Burns of Carmel.

This year, again seeking reelection, the congressman is being opposed by Democratic Putnam County lawyer Nicholas B. Angell and Libertarian candidate Sanford Cohen of Poughkeepsie.

Fish's district has changed in size and character since his first election when he represented Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie counties. Since then it has been reapportioned twice and presently Fish represents part of Ulster (City of Kingston, Town of Ulster, Saugerties, Esopus and Lloyd), Dutchess, Putnam, northern Westchester County and one town in Columbia County.

Ford Tackles Economic Crisis

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE — AFL-CIO President George Meany, who hadn't been invited to the White House since June 1973, was called to the Executive Mansion by President Ford. Ford appealed to Meany for "general cooperations" in fighting inflation. The President later called Meany "a great labor leader." (UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is moving toward a new nominal wage-price control program, and President Ford has served notice that he will be unhappy if big companies ram through inflationary price increases in the weeks ahead.

Ford also moved to reopen a dialogue between the White House and organized labor by holding a 45-minute private talk with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

These three economic developments Tuesday indicated the economic policy of the fledgling Ford administration, described by some as a "do-nothing strategy," had a surprising activist streak.

Presidential Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst said the Cost of Living Council that Ford wants Congress to resurrect would be "at minimum . . . a monitoring agency."

Thus, at the very least, Ford apparently is asking for a government watchdog with the power to command and analyze corporate financial records and to publicize price increases it considers unjustified and inflationary.

Ford made clear, however, that he did not favor giving the new CLC its former power to force price rollbacks.

At the same time, two powerful congressmen said they would introduce their own legislation to revive the council. House Banking and Currency Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., and Senate Banking Committee Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., said they would open hearings immediately on a bill recreating the council, which was phased out April 30 after 2½ years as the government's chief anti-inflationary agency.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D.-Tex., proposed a five member task force that would highlight critical wage and price actions.

TerHorst also said Ford would be watching closely to see if other companies follow the 10 per cent price boost announced last weekend by General Motors Corp. for 1975 model cars and trucks.

Ford has chastised GM, saying that a big price hike by the country's largest corporation erodes the credibility of any anti-inflation campaign.

And terHorst added: "Because the President feels so keenly about this subject, any action of this sort is going to get his personal attention if that is required."

There was no indication Ford would ask the giant automaker to roll back its increase voluntarily, and with the expiration of the Economic Stabilization Act three months ago, the government lacks the legal authority to force GM to do so.

Meany came to the Oval Office at Ford's invitation. It was the first time in 14 months that the labor kingpin, a bitter critic of the Nixon administration, had been to the White House.

Related stories on page 7.

Meany declined to comment on the session afterward, and then Ford, through a spokesman, said only that it was a "very friendly and a very constructive discussion . . . with a great labor leader."

In other economic developments:

— The Housing and Urban Development Department raised interest ceilings to 9½ per cent on mortgages guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans' Administration. The chief effect will be to cut the "points" paid by home buyers.

—It appears meat costs will increase next year because of a reduced supply of livestock feed. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says there was no reason to panic and there would be plenty of beef this fall. Reports released this week, however, indicate the livestock feed grain situation was "critical."

Ford also was moving toward a decision by the end of the week on his nomination for vice president. Speculation continued to center on former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and GOP Chairman George Bush.

Others reported to be in the running are Sens. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Gov. Dan Evans of Washington.

Contract Agreement at UCCC

STONE RIDGE

Negotiating teams for the Ulster County Legislature and the Ulster County Community College Faculty Association reached tentative agreement on a new contract for the 1974-75 school year Tuesday night.

Described as an "historic occasion" by former Faculty Association President Allen Duane, now a member of the negotiating committee, it marks the first time that the two sides have reached agreement before the opening day of classes.

Recent negotiations have drawn out through the Fall and early Winter. Four years ago, faculty members struck the college for three days to press their demands for better wages and improved benefits.

The tentative agreement was reached at about midnight Tuesday, after only the second formal session that faculty and county teams have held with PERB mediator James Cashan. The mediator was summoned July 1 after faculty negotiators declared an impasse in the current contract talks.

By mutual agreement, details of the tentative pact will not be announced until the contract is ratified by both teachers and county legislators. But Duane said today that, in general terms, the new proposed contract "deals fairly with the problems of inflation" and represents "improvement of non-economic areas."

"It is a very good contract," said Duane, "probably the best we've ever had."

Faculty Association members are expected to hold a ratification meeting Sept. 4. There was no indication when the full county legislature would vote on the pact.

Duane said the agreement embodies the PERB mediator's recommendations for compromise. He did state that the new proposed contract includes a cost of living clause.

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, (D-City), chairman of the county's negotiating team, could not be reached for comment.

Want Lloyd Nuclear Site 'Open'

Sportsmen Issue Report

LLOYD

The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County have issued a report of their study of the proposed nuclear power plant site in the towns of Lloyd and Esopus, with strong recommendations that the wildlife management of the 2,300-acre site be continued., and that access be available "to all licensed sportsmen."

"All boaters, hunters, snowmobilers, archers, fishermen, and trappers pay for the privilege of pursuing their recreation or sport," said the Federation. "This land should be available for their use and continued wildlife management practices."

In its report, the Federation says the "propogation of wildlife under game management has been very successful."

The report says the "hare species" are increasing as the result of repeated stocking, the deer herd is increasing, and pheasants are released annually in the area.

The report also contains a compendium of the wildlife contained in the area, listing among a great many other species of flora and fauna 13 species of frogs and toads, and seven species of turtles, including the very rare bog turtle.

In fact, the bog turtle is the subject of one of the Federation's recommendations. "There is a definite need to find out where the bog turtle makes its home in the Towns of Lloyd and Esopus," states the report.

Other recommendations made by the Federation are:

- No firearms within 500 feet of the plant site, and no shotguns within 1,000 feet.
- The allowing of fishing on Chodikee Lake, and ponds in the area, and in Black Creek.
- The establishing of Black Creek, from Chodikee Lake to Villa Road in Esopus, as a "wild river."
- The conduct of a study of both the amount of water required by nuclear plants and the plans of the Southeastern Water Supply Commission, since excessive water taken from the Hudson could allow its salt content to rise.

The Federation also points out that "what goes up must come down," and says that matter released in the atmosphere will settle out in the Hudson Valley, particularly during periods of "calm and inversion."

The Federation also cautioned against fog from the nuclear plant's cooling system, which the Federation said could interfere with navigation on the Hudson, or the operation of local airports.

Sheriff Defends His Record

KINGSTON — Charging that a highly critical report issued last week by a special bipartisan committee of the Ulster County Legislature is "baseless in fact," Sheriff William B. Martin today issued a news release defending his tenure in office.

"When I first sought the position of Sheriff of Ulster County, I ran under a slogan of 'Ulster County's First Career Police Officer Sheriff," Martin said. "In running I was not dependent on this job for a livelihood; rather I felt there was a definite need for a job to be done with this department. Many of you are aware that up until my candidacy, the office of Sheriff was, since time immemorial, never chaired by a competently trained police officer, rather, it was used as a 'political plum' for a loyal party man.

"After 20 years of dedicated, . . . (recognized merit alone,) service to the people of the State of New York and the people of the County of Ulster in particular, on the New York State Police, I felt that I could make a positive and definite contribution to the good people of Ulster County in the reorganizing of the . . . Sheriff's Department. I further knew that after 20 years of constantly updated training . . . I could instill that training and experience to young, anxious and willing young men who might want to make police work a career," Martin said.

"My only desire if you elected me to this office was to commence at once to make the Ulster County Sheriff's Department one in which you could feel justly proud and one that would be equal to none in New York State," Martin continued.

"On leaving office one day the only legacy I desired to leave was the personal satisfaction that I was in a large way responsible for bringing the Ulster County Sheriff's Department from a 'Keystone Cop Era to a Modern 20th Century Police Department.'

"Even at this time in my career as your Sheriff, I can report to you unequivocally that we have done just that," Martin said. "You can be proud of your Ulster County Sheriff's Department."

". . . . What is going on in our society today across the length and breath of our great country, from Attica to Texas, from New York to California, is mild in comparison to the 'chaos' that could happen even here in Ulster County (more so than ever at this time having two jails in one, Ulster and Rockland) if we didn't have a competently trained, hard-nosed, compassionate Sheriff in command. There is a big, big difference in wanting to be Sheriff and being fully equipped and trained to be Sheriff," Martin said.

"Upon assuming office in my first term, my appointment of an undersheriff was of a man for the position of a different political philosophy. Gone were the days of receiving a phone call from a politician asking for employment as a deputy sheriff of a man or men whose only qualifications for the job were loyalty to a political organization.

Stating that he "will have more to say later," Martin asked, "What is wrong, if anything, with the operation of our Sheriff's Department that is different or unique from other police organizations across our land?"

"It seems to me that we are all having similar problems and emergenices," he said. Noting that the Commission of Corrections and the bipartisan committee of the County Legislature have visited the jail, Martin asked, "Could it not be that presently our hands are partially tied and that we need a reevaluation, study and new laws enacted by our state legislators?"

". . . If anyone in my department is guilty of a criminal act then charges should have been forthcoming long, long ago. If not, I object strongly to a report that is baseless in fact, reflecting on the dedicated personnel of this department; a report that took five long months of 'closet-looking' for criminal acts to no avail; an investigation based in my opinion solely on the fact that it is an ELECTION YEAR . . ."

Martin concluded, "In all fairness to me and my department, I think perhaps this same committee should issue a report to the people of Ulster county stating the accomplishments of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department under my leadership from the time I took over this department."

'Rash of Accidents'

KINGSTON — A rash of auto accidents in Ulster County Tuesday and early today resulted in the hospitalization of nine people and injuries to numerous others in at least nine personal injury auto accidents.

Two were hospitalized and two others were injured Tuesday night in a crash at the intersection of East Chester Street and Lincoln Street in Kingston.

According to the police report a car driven by Jean Hough, 20, of Accord, allegedly passed through a red light and was in collision with a car driven by Gary J. Davis, 23, of Holiday Lane, Kingston, shortly before 8:30.

The two drivers and passengers Gail Shultis, 22, of 248 Clifton Avenue and Eva Oakley, 16, of Accord were all taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. Miss Hough and Miss Oakley were both admitted and were listed in fair condition today. The others were treated and released.

Jean Hough was charged with driving while intoxicated, driving left of pavement markings, and going through a red light.

Meanwhile, two were hospitalized folowing a crash shortly before 1 a.m. today on Route 9W in Lake Katrine. Taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance following the collision were the drivers of the two autos, involved, Carol E. Fox, 35, of Potter Hill Road, Saugerties, and Patricia Strubel, 26, of Ardsley Street, Kingston. Both were listed in satisfactory condition today.

State Police issued the Strubel woman a ticket for failure to keep right. A full description of the crash was not immediately available.

In another accident, a young man and woman who were on a motorcycle were injured Tuesday night when they were in a collision with a car on Route 28 at the intersection of Forest Hill Drive.

Taken to Benedictine Hospital after the crash were Thomas Hall-Davis, 18, of Accord, and Denise Brady, 17, of Glenerie. Miss Brady was in fair condition today. Hall-Davis was released after treatment. No summonses were issued in the mishap, police said.

Four others were hospitalized following three separate one-car crashes Tuesday night and early today.

Taken to Benedictine Hospital after a 12:17 a.m. accident on Lucas Avenue in the Town of Rosendale were the driver, Robin S. Magee, 18, of Bloomington — issued a summons for failure to keep right — and Sally Cassell, 18, a passenger. Both were in fair condition today.

Also in fair condition at the Benedictine Hospital today were drivers Kevin Costello, 16, of Tillson, and Steven Keglevich, 62, of New York. Costello was in a one-car crash on River Road in Tillson. Keglevich was in a mishap in the Town of Woodstock.

Spilled Gas Cause of House Fire

STONE RIDGE — Spilled gasoline ignited by two boys who were attemtping to burn gas off a spark plug from a mini-bike has been blamed as the cause of a fire which raced through a sprawling ranch house in Stone Ridge Tuesday afternoon, leaving the house almost a total loss, according to firemen.

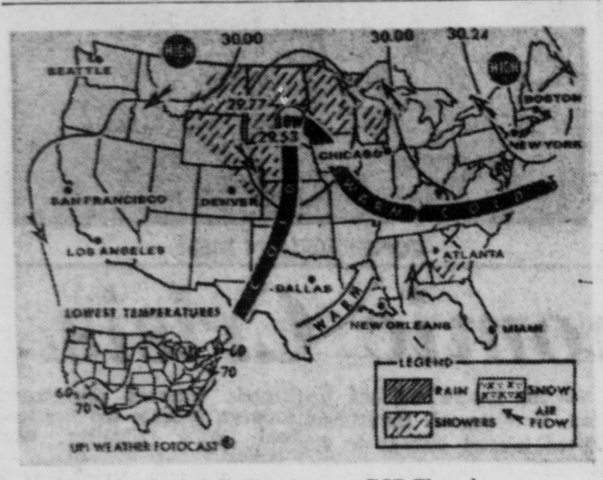

"It was one ball of flames," said Stone Ridge Fire Chief John Albright in describing what he found on arrival at the Wilbur DePauw residence on Candlewood Lane.

Albright said DePauw's son, Donald, 12, and anothr boy, Allen White, 11, were attempting to burn gas off the spark plug in the garage of the residence when the fire erupted.

Donald DePauw suffered leg burns and was treated by his family doctor, firemen said. There were no other injuries reported.

Half the house was gutted by flames and the remaining half sustained water and heat damage, Albright said.

Some 25 firemen from the Stone Ridge, Kripplebush and High Falls fire departments battled the blaze for nearly two hours.

Maddox Wins Plurality, Faces Runoff

AN ELATED LESTER MADDOX
(UPI) Telephoto)

ATLANTA (UPI) — Fiery Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox, trying to become Georgia's first repeat governor in 30 years, easily won a plurality of votes in the Democratic primary Tuesday night, but was forced into a runoff by the 12-man field.

The one-time ax-handle foe of desegregation held a commanding lead over his nearest challenger but failed to win the necessary 50.1 per cent of the votes to avoid a second race.

Georgia House Majority Leader George Busbee and Bert Lance, a small town banker supported by outgoing Gov. Jimmy Carter, were locked in a close struggle for the Sept. 3 runoff spot against Maddox.

With more than 63 per cent of the votes counted, Maddox had 276,551 votes to 110,782 for Busbee and 97,262 for Lance. Former Sen. David Gambrell, D-Ga., was far back in the field at 44,848.

The Republican race for governor also went into a runoff. Macon Mayor Ronnie "Machine-gun" Thompson, a law-and-order advocate who ordered his policemen to "shoot to kill" felons, led the four-man chase, with converted Democrat Harold Dye his probable opponent in the second primary.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and a member of the Senate Watergate committee, easily won renomination to a fourth term over political newcomer Carlton Myers. Talmadge faces another newcomer, Republican Jerry Johnston, in the general election in November.

In the congressional races, the only incumbent in trouble seemed to be veteran Rep. John Davis, D-Ga., who was trailing Dr. Larry McDonald, an Atlanta urologist whom Davis beat by 3,000 votes in 1972.

Maddox, who sold ax handles as a weapon against desegregation in the 1960's, said he was not disappointed in being forced into a runoff, despite his campaign predictions that he would win in a landslide.

"I just think it's miraculous. We're more than double the next man," said Maddox, who served as governor from 1966-1970 and is seeking to become the first two-term governor since the late Gene Talmadge, father of Herman, in 1941. Georgia law prohibits a governor from succeeding himself.

A Vote to Reduce Military Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate units have voted to reduce military spending proposals despite President Ford's warning against "unwarranted cuts in national defense."

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Tuesday the defense appropriations subcommittee has trimmed $5.59 billion from the Nixon administration request for military spending.

Meanwhile, the Foreign Relations Committee approved a foreign aid authorization bill that would phase out over the next three years the main category of military assistance, known as military-grant aid. It also gradually would close down U.S. military aid missions, now in 45 nations including virtually every country in Europe.

In his address to a joint session of Congress Monday night, Ford called for "tough decisions to cut the cost of government" but indicated he would resist large slashes in the Pentagon budget.

McClellan said the defense spending bill would be considered by the full Appropriations Committee, of which he is chairman, on Friday.

"This bill will not please everyone," he told the Senate. "Some would want to cut more, others would like to add to what we have done. But the bill represents our best judgment in today's perspective."

He said the $81.9 billion budget being recommended by the subcommittee is a 5.9 per cent cut from the request of former President Nixon. It is $1.4 billion less than the amount voted by the House.

The $2.5 billion foreign aid authorization bill is $775 million, or 22 per cent, below the Nixon administration request.

The measure, which now goes to the full Senate, imposes ceilings of $1.28 billion on aid to South Vietnam, $347 million on aid to Cambodia and $100 million on aid to Laos.

Last year, $1.57 billion was spent on South Vietnam, $688 million on Cambodia and $127 million on Laos.

The bill also wipes out the president's authority to grant arms credit to foreign countries at less than the U.S. government cost of borrowing money.

The biggest cut is in direct military aid to foreign countries, which the committee slashed $435 million, making the proposed appropriation $550 million.

Crucial Year for Volunteer Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Howard H. Callaway apparently was premature in proclaiming the all-volunteer Army a success.

Now he says the coming year will tell.

"The fiscal year we are now entering will provide us a most severe test," Callaway told a Senate Armed Services subcommittee on Tuesday.

"As the last of the draftees leave the Army, a major exodus which will peak this fall, we will have a significant gap to fill."

To do this, Callaway said the Army will have to recruit about 25,000 more men and women this year than last, which was the first full 12 months without draft authority.

"... If we can even come close to our goal we will be able to say, once and for all, that an all-volunteer Army is attainable," Callaway said.

This was a far cry from his formal statement July 1 that "the volunteer Army proved that it was a success" by ending the 1974 fiscal year slightly over its manpower goal.

Actually, Callaway declared the volunteer force a success three separate times in recent weeks. The other two occasions came when he declared an Army-wide holiday to celebrate the event and when he appeared at a White House-sponsored news conference in the waning days of the Nixon administration.

After the last draftees are discharged, the Army expects less of a turnover in manpower because most volunteers sign up for longer hitches than the two years served by conscripts.

Thus, the Army believes it will need fewer volunteers each year after next summer to sustain its strength.

"Ir fiscal year 1976, and for as far out as we can reasonably predict, our needs appear to be well within the recruiting capacity we have already demonstrated," Callaway said.

Disease Is Destroying Fish

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A disease lethal to fish has wiped out a hatchery population of 150,000 lake trout fingerlings that had been destined for new homes in Lake George and Racquette Lake.

Before the four-week-old epidemic is over, said Carl Parker, chief of the state Bureau of Fisheries, another 43,000 fingerlings are expected to die in the Lake George Hatchery.

The fatal disease is columnaris, a soil bacterium that spreads quickly among fish and is almost impossible to treat. According to Parker, state fish pathologists had consulted their counterparts in other states during their unsuccessful search for the proper treatment.

An additional problem, noted Parker, was that in any kind of animal population that has crowded conditions, the environment is ripe for epidemics.

The hatchery losses are a minor setback to the reclamation of the Lake George fishery but are "not too significant in the long pull," Parker commented. "We have alternatives."

Two other hatcheries, he said, are breeding about 191,000 Michigan-strain trout, a strain very similar to the Lake George variety. Many of those will be stocked in Lake George in the spring, according to Parker, to compensate for the 121,000 dead fingerlings intended for the lake.

However, the fingerlings intended for Racquette Lake cannot be replaced this spring, Parker said. In that hatchery group, 28,000 have already died and the remaining 43,000 will probably also go.

In terms of fishlife, Racquette Lake has never had the same problems as Lake George, Parker pointed out. "In Racquette, there is fairly significant natural reproduction and its fishery never collapsed as Lake George's did," he said.

Anglers once considered Lake George a prime spot but in the 1950s its fish population was almost wiped out by DDT in the water.

Subsequently, DDT was banned and state conservation officials began trying to restore the fishery. Last May, 50,000 small lake trout were stocked in the lake as part of the reclamation program.

Endorsement For Clark

NEW YORK (AP) — In a departure from party line, Manhattan Borough President Percy E. Sutton has endorsed Ramsey Clark for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

"As attorney general of the United States, Ramsey Clark was dedicated to the fair and impartial administration of justice," said Sutton in a statement Tuesday.

"He is the man whom Nixon fired and the man John Mitchell replaced," he said.

Clark succeeded in getting his name on the September primary ballot with a write-in campaign after he failed to get backing from the Democratic State Committee.

The committee has designated Mayor Lee Alexander of Syracuse as its official party candidate for the nomination.

In other political developments Tuesday:

—Democrat Richard L. Ottinger, seeking reelection in Westchester's 24th District, was endorsed by the 210,000-member New York State United Teachers Union.

—Gov. Malcolm Wilson said former President Nixon's resignation won't affect his campaign, although it might figure in the U.S. Senate and Congressional contests.

—Hugh L. Carey, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, called on Wilson to approve matching funds for a $10-million city grant for day care facilities in New York.

Dredging To Resume

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state Department of Transportation announced plans Tuesday to resume dreding of sediment from the Hudson River near Fort Edward.

The blockage of the Fort Edward harbor and the adjacent Hudson River inlet could cause flooding this fall and early next year if not removed, the state said.

The accumulation occurred last year after the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. removed a dam in the Hudson. Both the main channel of the canal to Lake Champlain and the side channel into Fort Edward became plugged with deposits over the winter.

Dredging had been accomplished this spring to open the canal for navigation, a DOT spokesman said.

The dredging project is being financed with a $5 million appropriation from the Department of Environmental Conservation. Legal action is being taken by the state to recover the money from Niagara Mohawk, the spokesman said.

Says County in Jeopardy

Editor, The Freeman:

The Towns of Olive and Hurley are in jeopardy. So also are other parts of Ulster County, if H. Clark Bell gets his way. The stage is set for Bell to lunge into the most hideous conflict-of-interest plot between his legislative duties and money making lawyering, and to pull off the greatest con-job, "Sting," against Ulster County — unless of course the citizenry becomes informed and outraged.

Specifically, the issue is whether the recommendations contained in the State Commission report entitled, "Water for Tomorrow," ever becomes the law of our State. The Commision, of which Bell is vice-chairman, purposes that the existing water system in Southeastern New York be transferred to a regional State authority and that each county, including Ulster County, would then purchase water for resale to local communities, such as the Town of Olive.

The plan proposed by Bell has a staggering price tag: yearly operating costs of about $138 million, and capital construction costs of at least $500 million possibly as high as $885 million.

To justify these huge expenditures the Bell report maintains that the regional water needs in the year 2000 will exceed the existing capacity by 350 million gallons per day, and that by the year 2020 the daily water deficit will be 850 million gallons. The future, according to the Bell report, will surely be catastrophe. Or will it?

The Bell report also purposes that New York City be metered for its water use, and that as a result of metering and other water conservation techniques, as much as 240 million gallons a day can be saved by the year 2020. In my opinion, this recommendation for water metering in the City is a good one, and it deserves strong support. But, it is interesting that the summary report does not say what the water saving will be from metering in the year 2000. This omission is the tip-off (for an old report writer like myself) that some additional figuring is necessary. Indeed, when one gets out the pencil and paper and uses the Bell reports own data it soon is possible to extrapolate that by the year 2000, water conservation techniques in New York City could save 200 million gallons a day. Thus, as worst the shortfall, using the reports own data, is only 6 per cent of the total water needs in 25 years from now.

The obvious question is why Bell makes such a drastic recommendation to commit at least 500 million dollars for a regional water supply system when the shortfall is so small, and when options for advanced technologies during the next 25 years are disregarded. In sum, the data in Bell's report does not support its chief recommendation.

I am forced, therefore, to challenge Bell's motives. I am compelled, therefore, to question Bell's integrity and commitment to protect Ulster County.

The very ugly fact is that an available supply of water, such as the Ashokan Resevoir, is the single most important ingredient to developers interested in doing their damage. In other words, the greatest way to develop Olive, Hurley, and other parts of Ulster County, is to make available to the developers the resevoir water for sewage and drinking water purposes.

Who then would profit by such a massive development scheme? As a lawyer myself, I feel justified to say that without doubt it will be the lawyers who will make the most money from such development. Considering that Bell's law firm has already handled most of the development projects in Olive, I have no other option but conclude that the money to be made is really the issue for Bell. Bell's law firm connections to the local banks and insurance companies further reinforces this conclusion.

During my campaign for the State Senate in 1970 I took the position that it is absolutely impossible for a legislator to avoid conflict of interst situtations if at the same time he or she also practices law. Bell's attempt to develop Olive and Hurley into suburbia, and other parts of Ulster County in general, is a clear and present danger to our life styles.

Keep Olive rural and free.

Too Soon to Tell

Editor, The Freeman:

It is too soon to know whether America has learned anything from the Nixon debacle. For Nixon is virtually a personification of the lower, meaner instincts which dwell to some degree in nearly all of us; what he stands for is therefore not so easily gotten rid of. Like making a New Year's resolution, it is easier to exorcise a particular bad habit or symptom than it is to make needed, fundamental changes in our thoughts and actions.

This country will have gained something significant only if it has the courage to expel, not only Richard Nixon, but the destructive and self-destructive beliefs and policies which accompanied him into office in '68 and '72, and which have marked his long and weary political career for over two decades.

We are being fed a line by some apologists that Nixon was a respectable man with good intentions, who somehow got overzealous and went astray. But the Nixon bared to the world by the Watergate episodes is no different than the Nixon of 1968 or 1952. The self-righteous patriotic rhetoric, the pettiness, the paranoia, the contempt for truth, decency, and due process, the total lack of humaneness have all been present during more than two decades, have been there for all to see.

We hear congressmen and senators telling us how appaled and dismayed they were at the lack of moral leadership revealed by the transcripts. Good God! — What kind of moral leadership did they really expect from a man who had spent his first term as President destroying several hundred thousand human beings with bombs and napalm? And what kind of moral leadership from a man who has acted aggressively at every turn to grant economic favor and political influence to wealthy corporations at the expense of the middle class and the poor?

It's time to stop kidding ourselves that Nixon-Agnew and the remarkably homogeneous band of law-and-order burglars, conspirators, and purjurers who accompanied them to the White House can somehow be divorced from the political philosophies and policies which they instituted. And in seeking new leadership, it's time to stop looking to those politicians of either party who are unable to see through these political junkies from the start.

Above all, America, it is time to halt the momentum of the ruinous and antisocial policies of the Nixon-Agnew era and to demand — from whoever seeks our votes — a massive attack on the economic imbalances in our society and on the forces of waste and greed which continue to propel us along on our environmental collision course.

Letters

Editor, The Freeman:

The Nazi butchers said calmly that they were merely carrying out orers.

Lt. Calley, hero of the My Lai massacre, said he was merely carrying out orders.

The Watergate burglars too were merely carrying out orders.

Despite the facts presented by the mounting opposition to nuclear plants in Lloyd, Dr. Cloin Robertson keeps repeating that such plants are safe. He belittled the balloon test of wind dispersion from Lloyd. Was he implying that the winds would not blow over the Hudson Valley in the event that something rose into the air from a nuclear plant; or was he admitting that the contamination would saturate the immediate vicinity without being wind-borne elsewhere?

He mentioned an incident at Windscale, England, which merely contaminated milk for an indefinite period, and contaminated the ground which was "cleaned up." he didn't say how long, how far or how "cleaned up".

Is Dr. Robertson merely carrying out orders? Whose?

Forward, Now, Together

Our new President has given many indications that he understands what must be done to get things moving again in this country after a long period of demoralization and disarray. In his first few days at the helm, Gerald R. Ford said what needed to be said, and acted both symbolically and in fact to affirm the continuity and stability of the United States government.

A particular concern at the moment of the transfer of power was that foreign capitals not misinterpret this as a time of weakness and discontinuity. President Ford took pains to avert any such conclusions. Flanked by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, he spent much time on his first afternoon as President talking with groups of allied diplomats. Later Kissinger and top State Department officials assured representatives of many other nations that American foreign policy would follow its present course, and "full continuity in the conduct of our national affairs" was promised in a message to Kurt Waldheim, secretary general of the United Nations.

Another concern was lest the American people perceive the changeover as a time of uncertainty and dislocation with regard to domestic affairs. Mr. Ford moved to quiet such fears, also; he asked all Cabinet members and heads of independent agencies to stay on, and was assured they would continue in a spirit of unwavering support and loyalty. He also emphasized that White House hostility toward Congress was a thing of the past. It became clear at once that he meant to make the most of warm relations developed during 25 years of service in the House.

The undergirding prelude to all this was President Ford's address after having been sworn in by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger. The welcome assurance that "our long national nightmare is over" will be the most widely quoted remark in that address, but there was much more of interest in what the President described as "just a little straight talk among friends."

What Mr. Ford said was simple, modestly eloquent, in good taste, a low-keyed rallying cry to the American people to work with him in harmony and "go forward, now, together." In return he pledged himself to be "the President of all the people," and said further: "In all my public and private acts as your President, I expect to follow my instincts of openness and candor with full confidence that honesty is always the best policy in the end."

In themselves these words are not exceptional, nor do they necessarily command belief. Uttered by the new President at the awesome moment of assuming that office, they had a promising ring of sincerity and determined conviction.

Staggering Food Waste

It is often observed that Americans waste more food than multitudes of other people eat. Garbage is the telltale. This nation's table scraps include a boggling tonnage of edible meat and vegetables.

The point is freshly underscored by the results of a garbage study conducted in Tucson by students under the direction of William Rathje, a University of Arizona anthropologist. Average annual food waste per household is estimated at from $80 to $100. The report concludes that in this city of something over 300,000 more than 9,000 tons of edible food worth 11 million dollars will have been thrown out during the course of this year.

The project nutritionist, Gail Harrison, gives further insight into the extent and nature of this waste. "In terms of nutrient waste," she says in a report to the Society for Nutrition Education, "we estimate that Tucson households are wasting about 10 per cent of the food energy they purchase." There is reason to suppose that this would apply generally to American communities.

That presents a disquieting picture of waste on a national scale. It is a picture which brings questions to mind. Isn't it folly to throw away that much food at a time when the cost of feeding a family is steadily rising? And can such a level of waste be justified in a world where hundreds of millions of people go to bed hungry every night? These are questions to which we wasteful Americans had better give some thought.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Fat Raise for Pressured PM Boss

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The clamor last week for Richard Nixon to evacuate the White House was accompanied by a more modest demand that Ted Klassen leave the Postal Service.

Several Postal Union officials, having read our exposes of the postmaster general, have called for his resignation. They have now been joined, significantly, by Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., a powerful member of the House Post Office Committee.

In response to all this pressure, Klassen decided to give himself a raise. He cajoled the Board of Governors into sweetening his expense allowance and guaranteeing him a $15,000 annual retirement if he should choose to step down.

Earlier this year, after we started writing about his mismanagement, he wangled a job security clause in his new contract. The Board of Governors amazingly agreed to pay him a full $60,000 a year salary for the rest of his life if he should be fired.

In other words, the taxpayers will be stuck with paying Klassen no matter what he does — $60,000 a year if he hangs on, $60,000 a year if he is fired or $15,000 a year if he resigns.

Meanwhile, the FBI is investigating our charges against Klassen, with particular attention to our report that he received a $22,917 fee from a postal contractor.

As long as he holds out in his postal penthouse above Washington's fashionable new L'Enfant Plaza, however, he is continuing unabashed to live in the high style we have described in previous columns.

His latest extravagance is a carpeted and paneled stairwell for his rare walks between the 10th and 11th floors. He usually travels the distance in the fanciest executive elevator in town, which lifts him grandly from his reception room up to his penthouse.

There have been occasions, however, when he has been obliged to use the back stairs. Not one to trod on ordinary, barren steps, he has now installed plush carpeting, aluminum paneling and globe wall lights in the stairwell between the two floors.

We have already reported that the postmaster general spent $302,200 to furnish his 10th-floor suite and an even more staggering $528,360 to outfit the penthouse for the Board of Governors. Since they rarely use it, he has simply added it to his lavish domain.

Visitors enter Klassen's office through two sets of walnut doors, one emblazoned with the Post Office seal. Total cost: $3,671. The receptionist's desk cost $1,576, and Klassen's personal secretary sits at a cheaper, $1,014 model.

His own desk, for traditional reasons, was hauled in from his former headquarters. But he has a convertible couch costing $1,143, seven chairs totalling $5,748, a $1,141 conference table and a $194.50 telephone table. His carpet cost the taxpayers $11,666, and the draperies came to $5,999. Not far away is a pantry, which cost the taxpayers another $5,280.

Upstairs, the food from the pantry can be prepared in a fabulous, $50,000 kitchen, which we mentioned in an earlier article. Despite our stories about his extravagance, he treated himself to some new dinnerware on May 15. He selected $6,147.25 worth of china, crystal, hollow ware and flatware.

He ordered nothing but the best, of course. He bought a tea cup and saucer set for $13.50 each, cream pitchers that cost $59.70 apiece and sugar bowls that ran up to $53.23 apiece. He paid an incredible $229.52 for two water pitchers.

The other offices in the postmaster general's complex are equipped with four settees totaling $3,297, two sofas costing $3,349, eight conference tables running $11,660 and 20 chairs for the tables costing $9,642. There is also a $1,835 drum table, two credenzas worth $2,644 and 14 lounge chairs costing $5,559. Above it all hangs a $3,718 chandelier.

There is no chandelier in the bathroom. But it contains an impressive, $800 marble countertop.

The L'Enfant Plaza Building, which houses postal brass, was purchased for $30 million. It has cost the taxpayers another $8 million to bring the new postal headquarters up to Klassen's standards.

Since the building was purchased "as is,' 'all repairs must be paid by the Postal Service. Already, $357,500 has been laid out for additional architectural and engineering work. Now a leaky garage is going to cost another $150,000 to repair.

The mails may be moving slower and postal workers are having difficulty keeping up with the cost of living. But Ted Klassen has it made.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Father John McLaughlin, the White House speech writer, took to the Voice of America to give his defense of Richard Nixon to lands around the world. The Jesuit priest said that "morally speaking" he was not "offended greatly" by the President's Watergate activities. McLaughlin, who had also put his imprimatur on the President's cursing and obsenities as revealed on the tapes, said "the rawest and most vulgar use of political power I've ever seen is in the ecclesiastical world" . . . B. J. "Joe" Tofani, for many years chief of the Army Corps of Engineers policy and analysis division, helped shape water projects worth billions to contractors. Now he has jumped the fence into industry and is working for the Water Resources Congress whose members include many seeking contracts and subcontracts for work originated by Tofani's old office.

Inside Report

Some Advice for V-P

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — One of the Senate-'s most powerful Southern grandees uncharacteristically picked up his telephone early Friday morning and passed this word directly to President Ford: Pick a strong, national leader as your Vice President and the sooner you do it, sir, the better.

The odd political fact about that call was the Southern Senator's personal preference: Nelson Rockefeller. Rockefeller, he believes, would be invaluable in helping the President deal with the nation's worst problem: the economy. This influential Southerner views Rockefeller not through ideological eyes but as "a man of proven political substance" with solid standing both with labor and business.

The reason this conservative Democratic Senator felt impelled to pass unsought advice to the new Republican President was the word spreading through Washington last Friday that Rockefeller was slipping far down on Ford's secret list. As the new President was sworn in, Rockefeller had become a considerably less likely prospect than either Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee or George Bush, the gregarious patrician and transplanted Texan who heads the Republican National Committee.

The President had quietly passed word to close friends in Congress that he has an open mind and will take his time in naming his Vice President. But on his personal staff, opposition to Rockefeller has been privately and forcibly expressed. That opposition boils down to two considerations:

First, the absurd fear among Mr. Ford's nonpolitical staffers — particularly his onetime Grand Rapids law partner, Philip Buchen — that Rockefeller might dominate a Ford administration and overshadow the President; second, that Mr. Ford should choose a Republican closer to his own conservative ideology and much younger than Rockefeller.

This staff opposition to Rockefeller (not fully shared by Mr. Ford's closest political aide, Robert Hartmann) is only one element in the anti-Rockefeller opposition.

In Congress, stone-age conservative Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina is putting together a loose, anti-Rockefeller ideologically-based coalition centered in the South and Midwest. Helm's choices: the wholly unacceptable Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, Sen. Barry Goldwater (who would like the job), or Baker.

Another phalanx is forming around Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona, the House Republican leader. This pressure group is influenced less by opposition to Rockefeller than by a desire for Mr. Ford to come to Congress for his Vice President.

Other Republicans under potentially serious consideration are familiar: Sen. William Brock of Tennessee and Elliot Richardson, the victim of the Saturday night massacre whose national prestige far exceeds his popularity inside the party.

In addition, serious talk from insiders is now being heard about one other dark horse: Melvin R. Laird, the backroom Republican superpower who arranged Mr. Ford's own selection as Vice President by Nixon and who is in the forefront of those pushing Rockefeller. His handicap: incestuous proximity to Mr. Ford.

What makes Mr. Ford's first great political decision so important is not only the decision itself, but the manner in which he arrives at it. "Indebeted to no man," as he gracefully put it in his highly effective swearing-in speech Friday, the President has virtual carte blanche to pick anyone he wants as soon as he wants.

Thus, powerful congressional Republicans not themselves remotely interested in being Vice President have been praying that Mr. Ford would not go through the ritual of "touching bases" unless he has already privately made up his mind. Then, he could contrive to bring about the result he wanted. But if, as seems to be the case, he has not made up his mind, the base-touching ritual becomes dangerous and potentially disruptive.

Worse yet, delay based on genuine procrastination over the new President's momentous first political choice risks a quick national judgment on Mr. Ford that could hurt him in the takeoff of his presidency. His first full day in office was celebrated everywhere as triumphant, almost joyous following the misery of the Watergate years.

But the vice-presidential decision overshadows all else. Some of the President's closest collaborators believe the country expects and wants fast, bold decisions from the new chief executive. They fear that in the choice of a No. 2 man, they may be getting politics as usual, the very thing the country does not need.

Scotch Is Scottish for Spirits

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND (KFS)—This is a dismal city of blackened stone, a cold oven for building ships and making whisky. There are endless rows of sootedd workmen's flats which, one presumes, created sots of Scots. When a Britisher asks for "whisky and soda" (without the "e"), he means Scotch.

When I asked for an interview with Adam Berguis, president of Teacher's Highland Cream, I discounted the chances of getting a story because all of the people I have met who manufacture wines or brandies or liquors are of family dynasties and discuss their product as though it were a living thing.

Mr. Berguis is different. He is almost shamefully handsome with elfin brown eyes and a slash of wavy white hair, and is one who carefully chooses the battlefield and the weapons.

Kelly and I found ourselves not in Teacher's executive offices, but in a private room in an exclusvie club on a square. As allies he brought with him Ronald Anderson, sales manager, and George Teacher Dunlop, general manager.

The time was one p.m. Big glittering windows stared out at the old Scottish buildings, the distant spires, the slow slide of the Clyde to the sea. Silent servants brought tableware to the big white table. The Teacher's gentlemen were more interested in drinking it than talking about it.

It is pale, potent and smoky, smooth enough to build a rock wall in my head if I stayed with Berguis, Anderson and Dunlop. I asked if Teacher's was one of the Scotches Ambassador Joseph Kennedy grabbed when the repeal of Prohibition was imminent in the United States.

"Not a chance," said Mr. Berguis. The smile, in middle age, is almost boyish. I asked why so many English statesmen are caught in the wrong beds. "How awful if they were caught in the right ones," he said. "They would have been less human than we thought."

He said that British inflation is so much out of control that he subscribed to the Financial London Times, not to read about doomsday, but to study the theater reviews.

Berguis is a sailor who, like my friend Mr. Phillip Cheney of Fort Lauderdale, enjoys racing lean sloops with tall canvas. Lunch was sumptuous. The assortment of wines made the scions of the ancient Teacher family appear like traitors.

Mrs. Berguis is a tall gracious lady who takes flying lessons. Her eyes are on her husband; the fork feels for food. He looked out and saw the gray sky. "Please love," he said, "when you fly this afternoon try to keep away from that cloud with the stone in the middle."

They have five children, which may be why she took up aviation. He refused to be drawn into boasting about Teacher's Scotch. "It is so old, so historic," he says, "that the only way I can get my picture on the wall of the boardroom is to die."

We spoke of the enormous stocks aging in warehouses. They, of course, are the riches of all of these companies — those old silent casks lying in endless rows in damp warehouses, each with a white chalk date on it. "In the whisky business, you think 25 years ahead. Sometimes, a hundred years."

"Scotch whisky," he said, breaking a Dover sole which looked better dead than alive, "is any spirits made in Scotland. Water is not H2O. Scotch cannot be truly imitated elsewhere because only in Caledonia does spring water rise and filter through red granite and flow through peat moss.

"We hang scientists," he says. Malt barley dries over burning peat. After two distillations, the product is so harsh that the Scots call it 'Plain British Spirits."

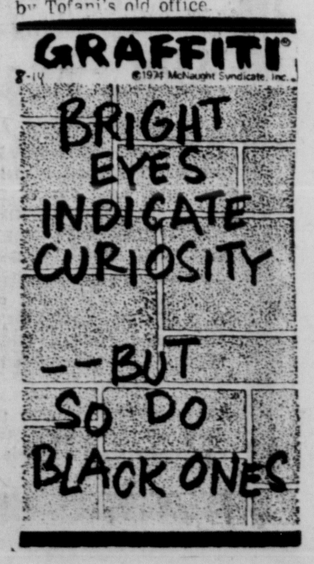

"All of our white oak casks come from Birmingham, Alabama." "Where?" "Yes, America." The oak staves not only mellow and color the whisky, they drink some of it and cut the proof from 126 to 102. Eventually, it is cut by pure water, at age 12, to 86 proof."

He seemed disinterested in discussing the technicalities of Scotch, except to state that the English, in 1740, tried to suppress everything Scottish including the wearing of kilts and, worse, the distilling of whisky. This drove the Highlanders into the hills where the only combustible was peat moss.

This led to the smoky flavor. I offered Mr. Beguis one of my low-tar, low-nicotine cigarettes. He lit it, puffed and grinned. "A good way of quitting smoking," he said. His finger was near the lit end. "Don't burn yourself," I said. He stubbed it out. "Frankly," he said, "I don't think I could." . . .

"By the way, you might be interested to know — today's my last day. I'm retiring!"

Conservatives Pushing Bush for Vice President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservatives are pushing President Ford to nominate Republican National Chairman George Bush as his vice president, and moderates are holding out for former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The deadline for their suggestions passes today, and Ford was expected to make his selection by the end of the week.

Ford gets hundreds of suggestions today from Congress, with separate envelopes to be submitted by Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and his House counterpart, John J. Rhodes of Arizona.

Never before has their been as much interest in the selection process, with Ford having solicited the views of hundreds of lawmakers and political leaders, and saying early in the process he would not rule out anybody.

The person Ford selects will be the third vice president in less than a year and will undergo intense financial and personal scrutiny from the FBI and Internal Revenue Service, as well as from Congress, during confirmation hearings.

A White House official said Ford has narrowed his choices to three: Bush, Rockefeller and Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn. Scott says he does not think Ford has pruned the list that far.

Ford isn't saying anything. His wife, Betty, told reporters Tuesday that the President hasn't told her, although she seems to be hoping he will select a woman. Asked about reports that women are being considered, Mrs. Ford said, "I think it's time the women step up and take their place."

Other lawmakers are pushing their individual suggestions. Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., head of the congressional Black Caucus, recommended Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., the country's only black senator.

'No Politics in Justice Dept.'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is promising quiet stability for a Justice Department beset for three years with scandal and upheaval.

Ford has asked Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe to continue in office and the two agreed that the department must operate with freedom from political pressures.

Ford seems likely to lean heavily on Saxbe, Deputy Atty Gen. Laurence Silberman and other Justice Department officials for his administration's crime-fighting strategy as he devotes his greatest attention to economic policy.

Saxbe told reporters after meeting with Ford on Tuesday that he expects no significant changes in departmental policy in the new administration.

He said Ford volunteered the promise "that he's not going to interfere in any manner—nor any of his people—with the orderly law enforcement and litigating activities of the Justice Department."

Saxbe said he told the President at a Cabinet meeting Saturday that "I felt that over the last several administrations, there has been a growing inclination for the Department of Justice to become involved in politics and that I felt it was not desirable."

Ford agreed, Saxbe said.

Saxbe was nominated by Nixon and sworn in last January.

He succeeded Elliot L. Richardson who, in his five months of office, presided over the prosecution of a vice president and acted as an uncomfortable mediator in the Watergate investigation of a president.

Richardson followed two Nixon attorneys general stained by the administration scandals—Richard G. Kleindienst, who pleaded guilty to a criminal charge based on his failure to tell a Senate committee about Nixon's role in the ITT case, and John N. Mitchell, under indictment for his role in the Watergate cover-up.

With the Watergate investigation firmly in the hands of special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, Saxbe is turning the department's attention to nuts-and-bolts issues.

These were among the issues Saxbe said he laid out to Ford:

—Pending legislation requiring greater government efforts to provide documents requested under the Freedom of Information Act.

—Pending legislation designed to protect citizens from government invasions of privacy.

—Wiretapping. Saxbe said he assured the President he will allow no illegal tapping and bugging.

—Illegal aliens. Saxbe said he told Ford that the Immigration and Naturalization Service needs funds for more employes despite the President's request to cut spending.

—Immigration Service scandals. "We're going to root it out to the very bottom," the attorney general asserted. "I'm not convinced that the corruption is widespread, but what I'm worried about is (whether) there is a cover-up."

Nixon Prosecution Up to Jaworski

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has signaled his intention to stay out of any decision to prosecute Richard M. Nixon for Watergate crimes.

The President indicated that he would leave it up to special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski to decide whether to seek an indictment againt the former president, Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said Tuesday after a private meeting with Ford.

"He made no statement on it, but I got the feeling that it will just run its course, that he has no intention of intervening one way or the other," Saxbe told reporters.

The attorney general said he raised the issue with Ford only briefly during a session scheduled to inform the new President about pending Justice Department matters.

"I told him that this was in Mr. Jaworski's area, that it would just have to run its course," the attorney general said as he reaffirmed his own intention to leave Jaworski free to decide the issue.

Legal experts familiar with the Watergate investigation say Nixon could face a gamut of criminal charges ranging from obstruction of justice to subornation of perjury for his role in the scandals.

The grand jury that indicted Nixon's one-time advisors on charges of obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up named Nixon as an unindicted coconspirator after being told of the doubtful constitutionality of an indictment against a sitting president.

Nixon's resignation stripped him of that shield.

Jaworski has said nothing about the possibility of charges against Nixon. On the eve of Nixon's resignation, the prosecutor said there was no deal promising Nixon immunity if he quit the presidency.

Ford has the constitutional authority to pardon Nixon for any Watergate crimes even before formal charges and a trial. Saxbe said he and Ford did not discuss that possibility.

Asked whether Ford is considering pardoning Nixon, White House Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst said, "I'm not aware that it has come up."

He told reporters, "The President is not keeping that question on the top of his priorities for the nation. He feels it's very important that the country move ahead on positive programs."

Saxbe said Jaworski's charter of office clearly assigns the prosecutor the responsibility for deciding whether to prosecute Nixon.

Whether or not he is charged with crimes, Nixon faces the prospect of being summoned as a witness in Watergate-related civil and criminal trials. He has been named as a defendant in one lawsuit and could face other civil suits.

All of those proceedings could cost Nixon hundreds of thousands of dollars in legal fees, but he can't draw from some $2 million in leftover campaign funds to pay them.

The money can't be used to pay legal fees of anyone who was not a campaign official, said two of the three trustees administering the leftover funds.

No Quorum, No Vote

HONOLULU (UPI) — Leaders of the American Bar Association wanted to vote Tuesday on a resolution saying immunity should not be granted former President Richard Nixon. But they couldn't because not enough delegates showed up to make a quorum.

It takes 200 members, and only 150 attended Tuesday's session of the ABA's convention.

Top ABA officials, including outgoing President Chesterfield Smith, were doubtful the Nixon resolution could be considered at this convention unless delegates voted to consider it an emergency matter.

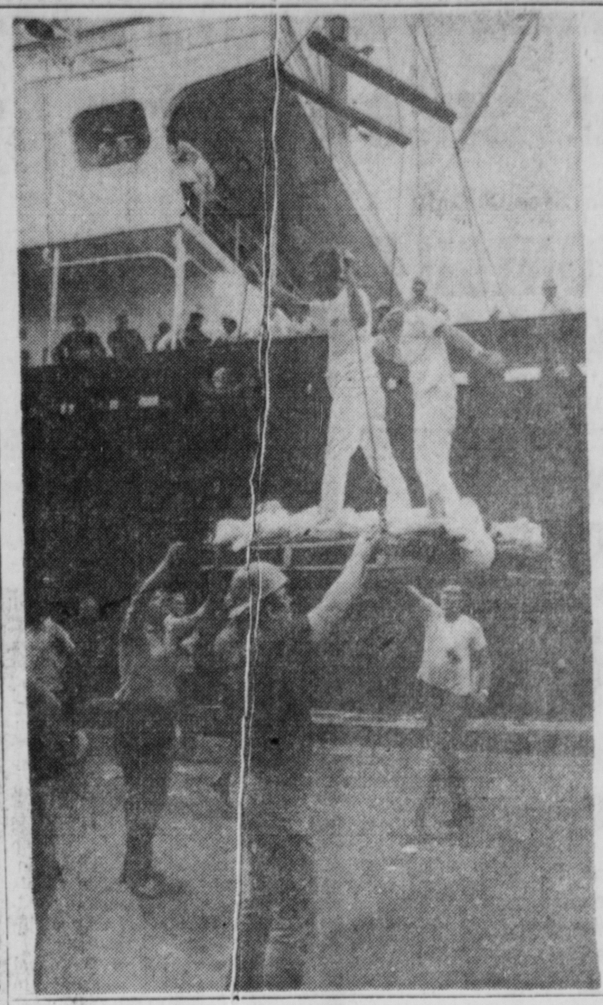

"It's very regrettable," Smith said.

The proposed resolution said Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski should move against Nixon "solely upon a determination of whether he has committed a crime for which he could be convicted."

In another development, former Deputy Attorney General William D. Ruckelshaus said whether Nixon was prosecuted should be decided "in the best interest of the country," not just in the best interest of Nixon himself.

Ruckelshaus, who quit instead of firing former Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox last October, told a gathering of young lawyers meeting in conjunction with the ABA convention that his "visceral reaction was: Nixon has been punished enough."

"But I resist leaping to this conclusion. The question is enormously complicated," Ruckelshaus said.

Extradition Proceedings Are Now Underway

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP)— Extradition proceedings were expected to be initiated today to return a Florida man to San Bernadino, Calif., to face murder charges in connection with an apparent triple slaying.

Eugene Wesley, 43, of Madeira Beach, Fla., was arrested here Sunday evening following an altercation in a bar, police said. He pled guilty to public intoxication, paid a $10 fine and was released.

But Wesley was arrested again Monday when a computer check disclosed that authorities in San Bernadino has issued two murder warrants for his arrest. Wesley was charged by Monticello Police with being fugitive from justice.

Police arrested him at the motel in nearby Kiamesha Lake where he was employed.

Authorities said the badly decomposed body of Mrs. Patricia Lou Thompson, 26, of Devore, Calif., was found in a creek bed June 6 behind her home. Bones believed to be that of her 3-year-old daughter Jodi were found scattered in a large area around the home. Investigators believe her other child, 8-month-old Roy, was also killed. The slayings occurred between May 10 and May 12, investigators said.

Police in Madeira Beach said Wesley was was sentenced on July, 1968 on an aggravated assault conviction to six months to three years in prison. He was charged with beating and slashing a 43-year-old Madeira Beach school teacher.

He was later arrested by the FBI on an unlawful flight to avoid prosecution charge stemming from the beating.

Disco Fire Hearing Underway

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A special 23-member grand jury has begun hearing testimony in an effort to determine if negligence, overcrowding or building code violations contributed to the tragedy of a June 30 fire at a Port Chester bar in which 24 died.

The panel was expected to sit for about a month. About 22 fire officials, investigators, owners and managers of nearby stores and other witnesses expected to be called.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Peter Gahagan began making the presentation after the jury was impaneled Tuesday.

Peter Leonard, 22, of Greenwich, Conn., has been indicted on charges of murder, arson and burglary. The current investigation centers not on his role, however, but on the possibility that other factors contributed to the disaster's extent.

The fire started in the Carol Bowling Lanes, adjacent to Gulliver's Restaurant. It went undetected for several hours before breaking into the bar, where young people were drinking and dancing to a live band's music.

Businessman Found Dead

GARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — State police this morning were seeking to determine the circumstances under which Putnam County businessman George W. McCormick Jr., 46, was shot to death here.

McCormick was found dead Monday afternoon. He had recently been convicted in federal court of failing to file income tax statements for employes of his five automobile dealerships from 1967 to 1971, and had been sentenced to two years probation and fined $13,000.

A Capuchin friar discovered McCormick's body on the floor of Graymoor Monastery's St. Anthony's Chapel at about 2 p.m. Monday. A revolver was found nearby. McCormick had been shot once in the head.

Police said the results of an autopsy would determine whether McCormick had killed himself.

Dutchess DA... Two Vacancies Are Filled

POUGHKEEPSIE — Two new assistant district attorneys have been hired to fill vacancies in the Dutchess County district attorney's office. The vacancies were the result of an office adjustment by which Assistant District Attorney Gerald V. Hayes and Assistant District Attorney William J. O'Neil were named assistant district attorneys, as state funded positions, pursuant to the Emergency Drug Control Act.

The two individuals named are: Bridget R. Rahilly, 23, a graduate of Suffolk University Law School. She was the recipient of several honors, including dean's list, the Hiram J. Archer Scholarship, as well as standing at the very top of her class, and serving as an editor of the Law Review. She completed her undergraduate work at the State University of New York at Oneonta, where she received the Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award, a New York State Regents Scholarship, and was nominated for a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. In the summer of 1973 she served an an intern in the office of the county attorney. She resides in Poughquag.

Peter M. Gilman, 25, is a graduate of Columbia University Law School and Cornell University College of Arts and Sciences where he was a dean's list student. He had been a member of the Delaware Summer Fellows Intern Program and was assigned as a law clerk to Judge William T. Quillen of the Superior Court of the State of Delaware.

Both Ms Rahilly and Gilman were graduated from law school this past June and are awaiting results of the New York State Bar examination. Pending the examination, both will be termed legal assistants but, by order of the New York State Supreme Appellate Division, they will be privileged to function in substantially the same capacity as licensed assistant district attorneys.

Fair...'Attractions for Everyone'

RHINEBECK — In his welcome message in the program book for the 129th annual Dutchess County Fair, Robert Estes, president of the Dutchess County Agricultural Society, reminds visitors that, despite phenomenal growth and sophistication, the fair has always placed emphasis on agriculture, education and children.

"Although the fair has grown tremendously both in attractions and attendance," Etses said, "certain things have not changed. Among them are the basic attractions, educational, family entertainment and participation by youth of the surrounding areas."

Young people in the 4-H and Girl Scouts will again make name tags for chldren so they can easily be identified, if lost. Boy Scout camping on the fairgrounds for the week will help fair officials and run errands.

The fair dates are Aug. 20-25, Tuesday through Sunday, with opening day, "Family Day," in chiiren under 16 are admitted free until 6 p.m.

Wednesday is the Grange "Welcome Neighbor Day." Thursday is "Thrill Show Day," featuring Joie Chitwood at the grandstand and with children under 16 again admitted free before 6 p.m. Friday is "Jazz Festival Day." Saturday Dutches County Day," and closing day, Sunday, Aug. 25. "Firemen's Day."

Free brochures are available by writing to Sam Lloyd, Manager, Dutchess County Fair, Rhinebeck 12572.

★ ★ ★ ★ Giants of Jazz Slated

RHINEBECK — Rhinebeck's Emmett Donohue has gathered together again for the 129th annual Dutchess County Fair his famous "Giants of Jazz."

Appearing Friday, Aug. 23, in the Talent Tent will be Chris Griffin, Sonny Igoe, Mickey Gravine, Pee Wee Erwin, Milt Hinton, Marty Napoleon, Bob Levine, and Sal Page. Regular visitors to the fair, and jazz fans in particular, will remember these jazz artists as former sidemen with Benny Goodman, Woody Herman, the Dorsey Brothers and Stan Kenton, during the "Big Band" era.

Missing this year will be well known jazz trombonist Tyree Glenn, who died recently.

The Giants of Jazz will be playing at the Talent Tent from 3:30-11 p.m.

NEW YORK (AP) —Stock market prices dropped still further today, extending a sharp week-long decline.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was almost a point below Tuesday's close, and losers more than doubled the number of gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that renewed fighting in Cyprus had lengthened the list of the market's worries, which already included persistent inflation and record high interest rates.

Today's prices on the Big Board included MGIC Investment, down ¾ at 11; Citicorp, off ½ at 30; Continental Oil, down 1⅛, at 36¼, and Avon Products, down 1⅛ at 27¾.

Home Loans Cost Still On the Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of buying a home, particularly the crucial cost of borrowing money, is pushing upward relentlessly.

Rising interest rates for home buyers were reflected Tuesday in the government's decision to raise the maximum allowable rate on federally insured home loans to a record 9.5 per cent.

The rate had been 9 per cent for just more than two months. The increase was twice the government's usual quarter of a percentage point adjustment.

Meanwhile, the Senate Tuesday approved a compromise $11.3 billion housing and community development bill that, among other things, authorizes $8.6 billion in block grants for urban renewal, model cities, open spaces and other community development programs over the next three years.

The bill also increases from $45,000 to $55,000 the maximum amount of mortgage loans that federally chartered savings and loan associations can approve. It also increases the ceilings for FHA-insured and VA-guaranteed loans on single-family homes from $33,000 to $45,000.

The government's decision on the higher interest rate followed two other government reports detailing record interest rates.

The first showed that the effective rate on conventional loans—those not insured by the government—increased to 8.97 per cent for new homes in July and 9 per cent for previously occupied homes.

The higher interest rates, higher prices and more restrictive terms mean the average cost of buying a new home has increased from a purchase price of $36,700 with $8,400 down and payments of $200 a month in March 1973, when the current surge started, to an average price of $40,700 with $10,500 down and $241 a month in July.

The second report indicated interest rates would continue to rise for home buyers, probably to 10 per cent or so over the next four months.

The shape of things to come was in the results of the auction of home loan commitments reported by the government's Federal National Mortgage Association.

The FNMA, known as Fannie Mae, commits itself periodically to buying a certain number of mortgages over the next four months, selecting from among the lenders who offer the best return.

Fannie Mae said the latest auction produced an average yield of just over 10 per cent for loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration and Veteran's Administration. The average rates for conventional loans was about the same.

And at 10 per cent, that means FHA-VA home buyers and sellers would have to pay about 7.5 "points" to make up the difference between the 9 per cent in their loan agreement and the 10 per cent return the lender probably would be demanding.

In cold cash, the buyer would have had to pay his maximum permissible one point, or $300 on a $30,000 loan, and the seller would have to forfeit 6.5 points, or $1,950 of the sale price.

The 9.5 per cent rate would still leave the buyer open for the same $300 surcharge and extract about $940 from the seller.

The change in interest rates would boost the buyer's monthly payments from about $238 at the 9 per cent rate on a $30,000 loan paid over 30 years to about $248 at 9.5 per cent.

ANNOUNCE $600,000 GRANT— Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton (R) joined Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) in recently announcing a $600,000 grant to the State of New York to finance acquisition and preservation of the Basherkill Marsh wetlands in Orange and Ulster counties. The federal grant will be matched by the state making a total expenditure of $1.2 million for the preservation of the marshlands.

Schechter... 'Halt Aid'

BINGHAMTON

William Schechter, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the 27th Congressional District, today called for an end to shipments of military and economic aid to Turkey and a nationwide boycott of Turkish goods sold in the United States, to remain in effect until that nation restores its ban on poppy-growing — the raw material for heroin that finds its way through underworld pipelines to America and "destroys our youth and dramaticaly increases the domestic crime rate."

Schechter said that some 90,000 farmers in the four Turkish provinces of Anatolia will again be producing poppies for processing into heroin in French plants in Marseilles. He added that international police studies show that the amount of opium gum needed for one kilo of heroin sells in Turkey for about $220, and that by the time it reaches the United States for final resale it is worth $240,000.

"The Turks took a $15 million down payment two years ago, against an evenual payment of $35.7 million to 'study' ways for Turkish farmer sto make up for revenue lost after abandoning their poppies - for - heroin business," said Schechter.

"Overall, we have been sending that ntion military aid at the rate of $35 million a year, and economic aid to the tune of $55 million annually — altogether, this ungrateful nation has received from us some $3 billion in assistance. We must cut off all such aid immediately, and put pressure on Turkish businessmen to get behind a restoration of the ban through an American boycott," Schechter said.

Gilman Lists Funds For Cadet Gymnasium

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The expenditure of $7.1 million for renovations and additions to the cadet gynasium at the U S Military Academy at West Point, has been authorized by the House Armed Servces Committee, according to announcement made by Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.)

Gilman, who after inspecting the existing West Point gymnasium, found it "inadequate, antiquated and a health hazard," said the authorization of funds should help make the gym more adequate for the needs of the academy's 4,400 cadets.

"The gym was originally built to accomodate 2,700 cadets but now serves almost twice that number," Gilman explained.

The committee shaved some $2 million from the Army's initial buget request of $9-1 million for the gym, Gilman noted.

The congressman suggested that the depressed condition of the construction industry in the 26th Congressional District is another urgent reason justifying funding the construction of the West Point gym.

"With several thousand building and construction workers currently unemployed in the greater West Point area, the deteriorating status of the economy in that region is threatening," Gilman said.

"Since the major portion of the West Point gynasium was constructed almost 65 years ago, with only minor alterations, this facility is totally inadequate for the needs of the West Point community," he concluded.

Dow Scores Proposal

POMONA

Former Congressman John G. Dow of Newburgh, who seeks election to Congress in the 26th District on the Democratic and Liberal tickets, sharpiy criticized his opponent, incumbent GOP Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman for a proposal which Gilman "claims would increse the amount of money available for mortgages."

Dow told supporters at a fundraising cocktail party in Pomona recently that the best way to revive the failing housing industry is to require banks to allocate a portion of their deposits for mortgages.

The Gilman bill would exempt the first $400 in interest on savings accounts from the federal income tax. Gilman says this will encourage savings deposits and in turn make more money available for mortgages.

"My opponent is naive to think, with a prime rate of 12 per cent and mortgages going for eight and one half per cent, banks will increase their money available for mortgages," Dow said.

"Gilman's bill is obviously designed to help the savings banks rather than the ailing construction industry. Banks would love to have more deposits so they can lend them out at the present exhorbitant interest rates," Dow said. "There is nothing in the bill which says banks would lend the increased deposits to homebuyers."

"As a tax reform measure, the Gilman bill just adds another complication to an already over-complicated income tax form," Dow said. "It is a weak measure which also provides nothing to relieve the burden of those who pay heavy income taxes on earned income."

"Until interest rates can be pushed down to the point where mortgages are competitive, Congress should pass legislation requiring banks to allocate a portion of their deposits for mortgage money. This is a better way to revive the housing industry."

OLD TIMERS DAY — Four "oldtimers" got together at the recent Old Timers Day in Saugerties to discuss plans for the annual Democratic Club picnic to be held Sunday afternoon Aug. 18 at Asbury Park in Saugerties. (L) Ulster County Legislator Richard F. Thornton, honorary chairman of the event; A. Michael Schovel, Saugerties town supervisor; Erika Hinchey, village police commissioner and Maurice Hinchey, Democratic candidate for the Assembly in the 101st District.

Dems Issue Joint Statement

POUGHKEEPSIE — Two Democratic hopefuls have issued a joint statement which is critical of the stand taken on Dutchess County membership in the Metropolitan Transit Authority (MTA) by Republican incumbents.

Peter Sala, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, and Philip Mangarella, Democratic candidate for the Assembly, issued the statement in response to the promise of State Senator Jay Rolison R-39) and Assemblyman Emeel Betros (R-Poughkeepsie) to sponsor a bill in the State Legislature which would remove Dutchess County from the MTA.

"Without thorough study and investigation, we cannot accept their conclusion that there is no practical reason for Dutchess County to remain a member of the MTA," they said.

The statement called the issue "too important to be used politically."

"In the first place, Rolison and Betros know it would require a bill which most likely would not pass the legislature and that the inclusion of Dutchess County in the Metropolitan Regional Planning is legislatively mandated. It is simply not true that Dutchess County could easily extract itself rom MTA," they said.

The Democratic candidates said the two legislators should be "demanding" services the county is entitled to, rather than calling for withdrawal from the authority. They also said withdrawal of the rail service would mean the ecologically unsound use of private cars.

Common Good Concept Criticized by Cohen

POUGHKEEPSIE — "One of the most dangerous concepts used by politicians and bureaucrats today is that of 'the public interest' or, as it is sometimes called, 'the common good,'" Sanford Cohen, Libertarian candidate for Congress in the 25th District said today.

"This dangerous concept," he said, "has been used by the most brutal regimes in history to violate fundamental rights of its people: life, liberty and property."

Cohen, who seeks to unseat Republican Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., said he feels there is no objective or scientific way of defining or measuring "the public interest." Yet, it has become an acceptable concept, simply because it has been used frequently. Those in politcal power justify their actions according to what they decided is in "the public interest." It is implied that some people must dominate (because they know what is best for us) and some individuals; must be dominated; that one group must always be victims of the other — all in "the public interst," Cohen continued.

"Doing what is popular in order to maintain power or get re-elected is an attempt to find the right path through the counting of noses, as if the majority opinion automatically made things right. If everyone but Columbus thought the earth flat, did that make it flat?" he asked.

Clearly, "in the public interest" is an immoral concept, he said "Each individual should have the right to exercise sole dominion over his or her own life, so long as he does not interfere with the equal rights of others to live their lives in whatever manner they choose. The sole purpose of government should be to protect those rights. To protect me from you, and you from me."

Cohen suggested that in order to restore individual and economic freedom, we must demand that our legislators not make laws, but repeal them, that every attempt be made to reduce the size and expenditures of government, and return decision-making power to all Americans "where it belongs."

"We can't have our bureacratic cake and eat it too," he said. "If we want to end government corruption and authority we can't continue to call on the Great White Father in Washington every time things get tough. It's time for us to grow, to cut the cord. It's time to restore the Spirit of '76," he concluded.

Today, 88 million adult Americans will drink a cup of coffee.

But 102 million will read a newspaper.

For most people, reading a newspaper is an indispensable part of everyday life. 77% of us, 18 and over, read a newspaper on the average weekday, according to a recent nationwide study by Audits & Surveys, Inc.

And newspaper reading is such an ingrained habit that over a five day period, 89% of us read at least one newspaper and the average reader sees 4.3 issues. In other words, just about every one of us reads the newspaper just about every day.

On the average we spend 30 to 40 minutes with each paper we read, and we go through it so thoroughly that we open and read something on 84% of the pages.

We get involved with the newspaper, too. We quote from it, write letters to it, clip articles and ads out of it, buy things by mail on its say-so, and talk about what we've read in it. 93% of all readers have done these things at one time or another. Just about everybody.

So if you're an advertiser and your problem is to find a sure way to reach everybody every day, you've got the answer in hand. The daily newspaper.

Daredevil Contemplates Niagara Tightrope Walk

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (UPI) — Daredevil Philippe Petit says he was excited Monday when he visited Niagara Falls but not as excited as his antics made some police officers.

Petit, the 5-4 Frenchman who walked on a high wire 1,350 feet in the air last week between the towers of the World Trade Center, paid a visit to the thundering falls Monday to talk over prospects of a tightrope walk above the Falls.

"It's a crazy place," the diminutive Petit said. "I don't know the words in English to describe my excitement."

Petit then cut his talk short, jumped over a railing at Prospect Point and stood for a while on the rocks, looking over the world-famous cataract. He came back over the rail after several nervous police officers became annoyed and one policeman asked him: "Do you have a permit?"

Petit then met with officials of the Niagara Frontier State Park and Recreation Commission, but a spokesman for the commission said Petit did not make a formal request for his high wire walk.

Keith R. Hopkins, regional administrator for the commission, said that if a formal request is filed the final U.S. approval would have to come from Alexander Aldrich, New York State parks commissioner.

He added a decision would then be made after all the facts and information are known.

Petit, who says he wants to walk directly over the Falls, told a news conference Monday he would perform no tricks on the wire — "just walking across is enough."

He said a spontaneous walk, such as his World Trade Center stunt, would be "technically impossible" over the Falls because of all the complex equipment needed to rig up a high wire.

Petit also visited with Canadian officials at Niagara Falls, Ontario, Monday to discuss aspects and approval for the walk, which he calls "my dream."

If granted permission, Petit would join the 19th Century aerial artist Blondin, who crossed the Niagara River just down-river from the Falls on a tightrope in June, 1859.

EYES THE FALLS — Philippe Petit, the French high wire artist who walked above the streets of Manhattan last week on a tightrope, surveys the scene at the world famous Niagara Falls. Petit was visiting the falls to get permission from authorities to cross the thundering Niagara on a high wire. Officials said a decision will be made after all the facts regarding the stunt are known. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

A Last Frontier?

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Charley Nolan has carved out a life for himself in the Adirondack High Peaks, about as far from civilization as a man can get these days in the northeastern United States.

For 14 years, the round, ruddy-faced man with wispy white hair has lived beside Lake Colden, the last nine years all alone. His neighbors are squirrels, chipmunks and a clan of beavers who keep building a dam near his front door.

The last time he left his "Last Whole Earth Cabin," as a sign over his window identifies it, was in May 1973 for a quick trip to this resort village. He bought six bottles of Scotch, browsed in the bookstores, ate someone else's cooking for a change — and hightailed it back to his cabin in the forest.

"I get kind of bored with civilization after three or four days. I'm letting my hair down now — I'll tell you frankly I do," says Nolan, 64, a former civil engineer.

Yet civilization is relentlessly moving in on him, in the form of hikers, backpackers and cross-country skiers. Last year alone, 22,000 passed through the Lake Colden area, he says, and the number appears to be growing every year.

Nolan, whose job as a caretaker for the state Environmental Conservation Department means he must pick up the outlanders' litter or help them if they injure themselves, is distressed. Not by most of his visitors — he's made many a friend in the Adirondacks — but by a sizable number of them.

"How many goofers are on their way in to bother me?" he asked two visitors to his cabin earlier this month.

Goofers, he explains, are "tramps, bums" who leave behind the refuse of a disposable society: beer cans, bottles, half-burned old shoes and plastic air mattresses. He's even seen some chopping up picnic tables for firewood, and has been powerless to stop them.

It's a seven-mile trek to Nolan's place, most of it through dense forest. From Marcy Dam, the halfway point, each step seems tougher than the last as you scramble along a muddy trail, struggle up boulder-strewn Avalanche Pass and circle pristine Avalanche Lake with the aid of log ladders set against huge rocks.

"I consider this the nicest spot in the Adirondacks. Avalanche Lake is spectacular," Nolan says. He appears surprised when asked how he manages to live alone.

"Why should that be an exceptional thing? Because people are getting more and more herded together? . . . I like the woods, and I'm a bachelor, and I can be equally happy with people or by myself. Besides, I'm interested in conservation," Nolan says.

A native of Portland, Pa., he graduated from Lafayette College in Pennsylvania, then worked all over the world as an engineer — building airfields in New Guinea and Okinawa during World War II, then in Japan, at an oil refinery in Venezuela and a U.S. Air Force base in Greenland.

His vacations were often spent in the Adirondacks, which he first saw in college and where he relished the tough winters.

Nolan's cabin is spacious and well-equipped — except for electricity and indoor plumbing. He keeps in touch with the news on his radio, has a phone for emergencies and about once a week another caretaker hikes in with his mail and some supplies. Twice a year a helicopter flies in the biggest items.

Winter, however, is something else. Then Nolan may have to wait weeks for his mail or the dozen magazines he subscribes to or fresh meat.

Yet his only complaint is the "goofers" who despoil the woods. "Someone chopping up a picnic table — I've stopped wasting my breath," Nolan sighs.

"If it gets any worse, Im' not staying. I may try one more summer," he adds.

"Alaska," he replies without hesitation. "Still only two people per square mile there, according to the latest figures."

Burroughs Group to Take Canal Walk on Sunday

HIGH FALLS — John Burroughs Natural History Society will conduct a walk along the D & H Canal. Those interested in participating in this field trip should meet at the DePuy Tavern in High Falls at 9 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 18.

Various summer wild flowers and birds will be observed.

The walk will be under the leadership of Barbara Russell of New Paltz. She has been very interested in the D & H Canal for many years and her knowledge on this subject should be very worthwhile to those who are interested in the Canal.

Those attending will bring a lunch as there will be a tour of the Canal Museum for anyone interested in the historical facts.

The next field trip of the John Burroughs Natural History Society will be on Sept. 1, a walk along Coxing Creek near High Falls. Details will be announced.

1st Commercial Addition

ALBANY

Shareholders of Oystermen's Bank and Trust Company, Sayville, L.I., have approved its acquisition by First Commercial Banks Inc., a $1.6 billion registered bank holding company headquartered in Albany.

Announcement of the approval was made jointly by Victor J. Riley, Jr., First Commercial president and chief executive officer, and John M Greene, Oystermen's chairman, following a special meeting of Oystermen's shareholders in Sayville.

Oystermen's Bank, with total assets of more than $50 million, was founded in 1899 and is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year. It has five offices in the Sayville area.

"Oystermen's is fortunate in having a team of outstanding officers and staff members in addition to a devoted board of directors," Riley commented. "The bank will continue to be guided by these same people. This is consistent with the policy of First Commercial. We feel it is in the best interest of all concerned for local management to continue to direct the daily operations of a community bank so that it can remain close to its customers."

The transaction, in addition to being approved by Oystermen's shareholders, has received the approval of the New York State Banking Department and the Federal Reserve.

First Commercial presently has more than 100 banking offices from the Mid-Hudson Valley to Central New York. Its affiliates include: National Commercial Bank and Trust Company, Albany, First Trust & Deposit Company, Syracuse, Kingston Trust Company, Kingston, Homer National Bank, Homer, FCB Leasing Ltd., Waltham, Mass.; and FCB Advisory Services, Inc., Albany.

Roundout National Bank To Sponsor Six Specials

WOODSTOCK

"Sandburg's Lincoln," starring Hal Holbrook, will premiere this Fall on the NBC television network when the Rondout National Bank co-sponsors six hour-long specials based on Carl Sandburg's biography of Abraham Lincoln, it was announced by Ken E. Osterhoudt, vice president.

Keyed to America's Bicentennial celebration, three of the specials will be presented by the Rondout National Bank as a member of the American Bankers Association (ABA) during the 1974-75 season, with the first to be colorcast Friday, Sept. 6. The three other specials will be presented during the 1975-76 television season.

The much-honored Holbrook, who won Broadway's Tony Award for his highly acclaimed impersonation of Mark Twain and an "Actor of the Year" Emmy Award for his starring role in "Pueblo," takes on the part of Lincoln in full make-up.

"It's a very exciting thing to act the role and at the same time look like the man," Holbrook said in a recent press interview.

The television specials will concentrate on six different aspects of the "man" Abraham Lincoln. "There will not be any debates or speeches," director-producer George Schaefer, himself a six-time Emmy winner, said. "We're just trying to take him out of that marble image and give him some flesh and blood."

Playing opposite Holbrook as Mary Todd Lincoln is the renowned dramatic actress, Sada Thompson. Her performance as the four different ladies in "Twigs" brought her the Tony Award. Her performance in "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds," earned her the Obie Award for Best Performance.

As co-sponsors of "Sandburg's Lincoln," the ABA will showcase a series of specially prepared television commercials for America's bankers. Astronaut Neil Armstrong, the first man to land on the moon, will appear in several of these 60-second commercials.

Armstrong recently signed an agreement with the ABA giving the banking industry association the option to use him as its advertising spokesman for a period of up to three years. His first television commercial for the ABA was filmed at Columbia, Md., a new planned community where banks continue to play an important role in financing community growth.

Each commercial is designed to show the role of banks in the growth and development of communities and how people can better use their bank.

Plattekill Man Develops Item

NEW YORK

Carlos M. Bonet, Box 97, Plattekill, has developed an invention which is now in the process of being introduced to manufacturers.

The invention consists of a photographic apparatus which permits the user to select and enlarge an individual frame of a film and make a photocopy print of the enlargement.

Bonet now is negotiating for the sale or licensing to interested manufacturers with the assistance and guidance of the Raymond Lee Organization.

The Raymond Lee Organization is a company which specializes in the development and introduction of inventions to industry.

According to founder-president, Raymond Lee, no idea is too small to be considered for development. "Even though we are located on Park Avenue, among the leading companies of the world, our facilities spread across the United States and Canada to assist inventors in areas of creativity," says Lee. "We believe there are many ideas which could result in profitable new products if their inventors would come forward. OVERDRIVE FOR '75 — An optional fuel-saving overdrive will be one of the new mechanical features available for some 1975 American Motors cars. The English-built Laycock J-Type has been engineered for Gremlin and Hornet six-cylinder engines with manual transmissions, marking the first time since 1969 that U. S.-built cars have offered such a system. By lowering engine rpm's 22.2 per cent at highway speeds, AMC's overdrive improves gasoline mileage, reduces engine wear, minimizes oil consumption and contributes to a quieter ride. Here, Gerald C. Meyers (R), group vice president-product, American Motors Corporation, checks the precision gear train inside the overdive housing with Richard L. Best, sales manager, automotive componets division, GKN International, manufacturers of the AMC-Laycock overdrive unit. The franchised dealer in Kingston for American Motors is Begnal American, Inc., 154 Clinton Avenue.

Caldor Hailed in Trade Article

NORWALK, CONN. Caldor, Inc., one of the country's leading discount department store chains, was the subject of a highly favorable article in the latest issue of a major New England business magazine.

The three-page story with pictures centers on an interview with Carl Bennett, president and chairman, and Val Rossetti, Caldor's treasurer, of the 28-store discount chain that has shown tremendous growth since its founding 23 years ago. The New Englander magazine, a 21-year old highly regarded New England business publication, said personalized service by highly trained people is a key element in the discount chain's success.

For the year ended Jan. 26, 1974, Caldor posted a record $166 million in sales, a 26 per cent gain over the previous year with net profits climbing to a record $4.9 million. Caldor expects to record a sales volume of some $200 million this year for its fast growing chain that will also see it adding three more stores during 1974, the article said.

"Carl Bennett, 54, president and chairman of Caldor, Inc., has 28 reasons to be a very proud parent. At a time when discounting generally has fallen on hard times, the Caldor formula, which Bennett originated, continues to ring up new highs in sales and profits, and to win more admirers among the investment fraternity," the article said.

"We profess no magic formula for our success," he insists. "We attribute it to a well-planned, orderly, controlled but flexible set of standards geared at all times to people — the consumer, supplier, employee, management, stockholders and the communities we serve. From its inception, we have tried to keep Caldor synonymous with high quality, name-brand merchandise at low prices. We have no seconds or irregulars. Personalized customer services — unique for discounters — were in the comany's original tenets, and remain a prerequisite." Mr. Bennett is quoted as saying in the article.

The article also quotes Dr. Alan Silverman, a leading Wall Street institutional analyst, as saying, "Caldor is among the best of the highend discount stores."

Caldor is a public company listed on the American Exchange.

The following are excerpts from the article:

"Caldor currently boasts a remarkably strong financial condition. Its balance sheet shows $10 million in cash and near cash, some of which the company is lending out at today's rates of 11 per cent or better, while slowly reducing its modest long-term debt, payable at a top rate of 7 per cent. Last year the firm bought back over 126,000 shares of its own stock at an average price of $7, thereby increasing shareholders' equity. Few retailers have it so good these days.

"A major share of credit for Caldor's success goes to the company's willingness to change. Management at all levels has its eyes focused on profit, cost control, and the bottom line, while keeping channels of communication informal and informative, according to Mr. Bennett, who spends much of his own time on development of new merchandising concepts and store decor.

"Last year, Caldor underwent another of its periodic restyling and design program. Result: a new architectural facade and bright corporate logo—a stylized rainbow that now appears on all Caldor publications, properties and products.

Caldor's stores are currently located through Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York.

A Caldor store in Kingston, N.Y. area is located on Ulster Avenue Mall.

Sara Lee Joins the MD Fight

DEERFIELD, ILL. The Kitchens of Sarah Lee is launching an extensive consumer and trade promotion program to raise money for the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Sarah Lee is joining with the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America (MDAA) to offer consumers a way to contribute to a vitally important cause. The money raised in this effort will be used to combat a disease that causes death to people of all ages, especially youngsters. MDAA National Chairman Jerry Lewis recently visited the Kitchens of Sara Lee in Deerfield to promote this program.

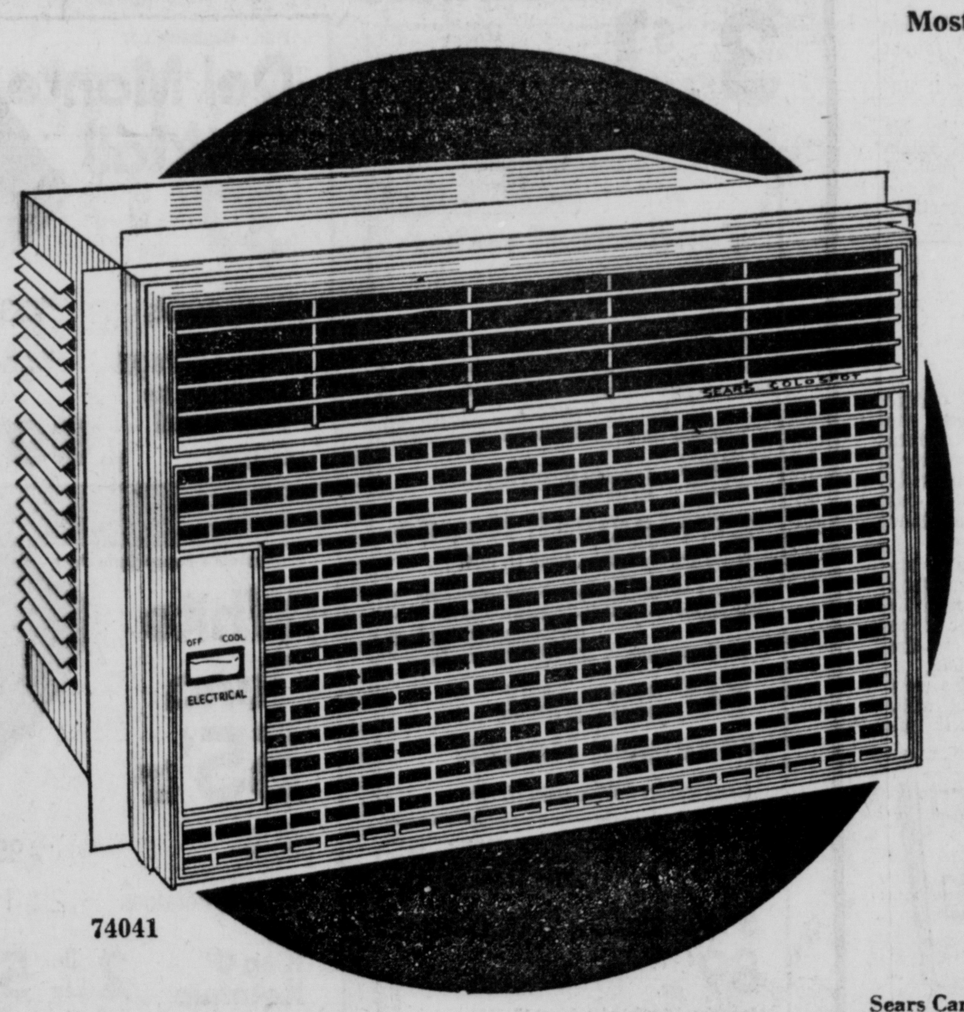

Starting in September, Sara Lee will donate 10 cents in the name of each consumer who sends in a Sara Lee Dessert Cake product package top. Since there are millions of Sara Lee Dessert Cake packages stocked daily in supermarkets across the country, a considerable amount of money could be raised for this worthy cause. This offer is good on Sara Lee Fresh Banana Cake, German Chocolate Cake, Golden Cake, Devil's Food Cake, Chocolate Cake, and Brownies.

A major print advertising campaign will publicize the Sara Lee-MDAA program and tell consumers about muscular dystrophy and the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon. Colorful point-of-sale displays in supermarkets nation-wide will also promote this program.

The Sara Lee "Nobody doesn't want to help fight muscular dystrophy" message will be broadcast to more than 70 million viewers over some 170 television stations during the 20-hour Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon. Powerful television advertising featuring Jerry Lewis will continue to promote the Sara Lee-MDAA program for 10 days following the telethon.

No Blindness of Mind

RONALD BYRD AT WORK
(UPI TELEPHOTO)

DALLAS (UPI) — Ronald Byrd is blind and black but he says he has overcome whatever handicaps that combination might present because he never has suffered from blindness of the mind.

"All of the employment interviews that I went on would begin by the employer telling me things I could not do because I was blind," said Byrd, 28, now a personnel specialist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food and Nutrition Service.

"I had one interview and after listening to a long list of 'can't do's' the employer tried to strap me with, I asked him to state the requirements of the job and I'd explain to him how I would accomplish each one.

"I'd say, 'Don't tell me what I can't do. Tell me what you require and I'll tell you how I'll do it'. I tell the kids I work with that every person has some kind of handicap. It's a matter of coming out of your own darkness. Everyone must light a candle for himself.

"It's all right to be blind in the eyes as long as you're not blind in the mind."

Byrd graduated with honors from Bishop College in Dallas with a sociology degree after receiving an associate degree in a junior college in his hometown of Gary, Ind.

"In my job, I do career counseling for federal employes, and do some interviewing and hiring," Byrd said. "In coming here, I used that philosophy to ask the employer what he required, and to tell him how I can do it.

"One thing I think is very significant about what I've done is to show that it is possible for a blind or handicaped person to survive in the employment world without being nailed to one area.

"It's a matter of coming out of the corner. It's difficult. I had to go to 36 social agencies and 18 federal agencies before I got this job.

"I think this can be an extremely important motivational force for handicaped persons, and a force even for those who are sighted who work in the competitive world."

During his early years in Indiana Byrd ran on the high school track team. His blindness was caused at birth. He was a premature baby and doctors said there was too much light in his incubator, producing his blindness.

"I warn kids against what I call the 'isms'," Byrd said. "Just because they are visually impaired, they don't have to develop blind mannerisms. A man recently told me I walked just as straight as a 'normal' person. It's because I never learned the mannerism of slumping my shoulders.

"When I ran track in high school with the other kids, I was taught to concentrate on running straight and every time I could stay in the race.

"I believe to compete in the world of sight and sound requires that same approach — running straight, being able to see in the mind. It's not so much a matter of eyesight."

Soviet Camp . . . Like Home

MOSCOW (AP) — Like any other summer camper, 12-year-old Chuck Whitehead got homesick, played practical jokes on his counselor, didn't like some of the food and wrote dutiful letters home.

But there was a difference: Chuck is an American and his camp was one for Soviet school children on the Black Sea near Yalta.

He lives in Moscow with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Whitehead of Greenbelt, Md. Dad is an attache at the U.S. Embassy here.

Both the lively, black-haired seventh grader and his mother expressed satisfaction with the camp experience.

"I had a nice time," Chuck said. "I wouldn't mind going back."

"Chuck was going to a diplomatic school here, with no contact at all with Russians," added Mrs. Whitehead. "We thought it would be a good experience, though we told him he could come home if he didn't like it. But it turned out very well."

Chuck was the only American at the Artek Pioneer Camp, which annually takes in 25,000 Soviet children and several hundred children from foreign countries, mostly from the Eastern European bloc.

One out of every four children in this country spends part of his summer vacation at one of the many Pioneer camps scattered throughout the Soviet Union.

Artek is the most prestigious camp, and a stay there is given as a reward to hard workers in both school and society, according to Soviet officials.

The camp is coed, with boys and girls staying in the same houses but segregated by sex in the sparsely furnished sleeping rooms. Chuck bunked with three boys from Eastern bloc countries. "The Russians pretty much stayed with other Russians," he said.

When he arrived, Chuck said, he didnt' know that the camp was "so military, so snap-to." The Young Pioneers lead a regimented life, with practically every minute accounted for by their counselors, called commanders.

Marching and ceremonies continued throughout the day, interspersed with sports, handicrafts, cultural activities, sightseeing and cleaning up the camp.

But like all children, the campers tried to get around the regimentation whenever they could.

"They tried to keep us in line when we marched, but nobody followed the rules," Chuck recalled. "As soon as the commander left, we'd back out of order."

Chuck recalled little political indoctrination or lecturing about the Soviet system during his camp stay.

During the day and around campfires at night, he taught them American songs, including U.S. Army recruit ditties.

They communicated in his pidgin Russian, their pidgin English and a great deal of sign language. Several of the commanders also practiced their faulty English on him.

Take a leaf from the Sawyer tree...

The symbol of sturdy growth for savers.

For personally planned student loans

Sawyer Savings Bank knows that one strict student loan plan cannot fit everyone's needs.

That's why we arrange our Student Loans on a very personal level, leaving open many options.

A qualified applicant, for example, may select a loan for either undergraduate work or postgraduate studies. Or, he may opt for a combination of both loans.

He decides--within limits, of course—the exact amount to borrow. (Up to $7,500 is allowed for undergraduates distributed in partial, annual allotments during this school period—with an additional $2,500 available for graduate studies.)

He chooses which approved college or vocational school to attend.

His selection of a specific loan plan, including the amount to be borrowed, automatically determines the payback period. There are generous time allowances of from 7 to 10 years possible per individual plans, beginning up to nine months after courses end.

Of course some things about our Student Loans are necessarily the same.

All qualified applicants must be residents of New York State for at least one year prior to the time the loan is granted, and they must be enrolled in or accepted at an approved school.

If you qualify for our Student Loans, please stop in or call 246-9541 to discuss your plans. Let us structure a Student Loan for you. We want you to achieve your individual goals, and we'll do all we can to help.

MRS. LARRY WILLIAM ARNOLD

Shurter-Arnold Nuptials Announced

(Kathleen Marie Shurter)
(Lakeside Studio)

Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Kerhonkson was the setting for the wedding of Kathleen Marie Shurter of RD 1, Kerhonkson, and Larry William Arnold of Rosendale. The Rev. Philip Sandstrom officiated at the ceremony Saturday, Aug. 3. Edgar Abram, uncle of the bride, was organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Shurter, formerly of Kerhonkson. The bridegroom is the son of Harold W. Arnold of RD 1, Box 340, Rosendale.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of shantung in the princess styling with a cotton lace bodice trimmed with daisy applique. The back featured a belt under which was secured her chapel train. Her Juliet cap of lace held a silk illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis, baby's breath, orchids and white roses.

Miss Judy Barber of Ticonderoga was maid of honor in a nile green gingham gown featuring an Empire waistline. Her hat was accented with green gingham ribbon.

Attendants were Penny Wahlley of Lake Placid and Patti Hecker of Yorktown Heights. Their gowns were similar in styling to the honor attendant's excpet in melon and yellow, respectively. All attendants carried fireside baskets of daisies.

William Carroll, Rosendale, was best man. Ushers were Robert VanWinkle, Yorktown Heights, and Allen Arnold, brother of the bridegroom, Rosendale.

A reception was given at Wenig's, Napanoch.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Rondout Valley Central School, attended SUNY at Cobleskill where she majored in Food Service Administration. She is employed by Kingston Hospital. Her husband, also a 1972 alumnus of RVCS, attended Ulster County Community College, and is employed by William's Fencing Co. in Port Ewen.

The couple will reside at Lawrenceville Road, Rosendale.

Victoria St. John Weds K. D. Gilligan

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chambers St. John of 27 Burgevin Street, Kingston, announce the marriage of their daughter, Victoria, to Kenneth Drew Gilligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilligan of Hensonville, formerly of Kingston. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ertel and Mrs. Howard R. St. John of Kingston.

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool officiated at the ceremony Saturday, Aug. 10, at First Dutch Reformed Church, Kingston. Organist Dale Deschler accompanied Mrs. Thomas Keehn of Woodstock who sang wedding selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory Duchesse satin styled with a fitted bodice embellished with a net yoke under a deep bertha of French lace. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves trimmed with matching lace at the cuffs and featured a full skirt which terminated in a long train. Her fingertip veil of tulle was attached to a Camelot satin cap decorated with see pearls. She carried a nosegay of white roses and bourardia.

Miss Ellen St. John of Stony Run Apartments, Kingston, was maid of honor for her sister in a blue Charleston linen gown in the princess styling with a formal neckline. Royal blue velvet streamers fell to the hemline. She carried a white basket filled with an old-fashioned bouquet.

Bruce Gilligan served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Kent St. John, brother of the bride; Andrew Murphy, Gerald Corrato, all of Kingston; Murray Galbraith, and Carmen Branca.

A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, High Rocks, Ohayo Mountain.

Carolyn Wieland of City View Terrace, Kingston, was honor attendant in a yellow chiffon sleeveless gown styled with a scooped neckline and Empire waistline. Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: While I was driving my car, a traffic officer suddenly appeared, and signaled for me to pull over. I promptly obeyed and asked him what I had done wrong.

He asked me to get out of the car, and when I did, he looked me over — but good. Then he asked me for my driver's license, which I gave him. Meanwhile, I was trembling like a leaf.

I noticed that he made a note of my name and address. Then he said: "You were exceeding the 35 mile-per-hour speed limit — but if you let me see you when I'm off duty, I'll call this a 'warning'." Then he smiled and told me his first name.

Abby, I was NOT going over the speed limit, and I was angry because he tricked me into stopping. Besides, I have a boyfriend and I'm not interested in seeing anyone else, but I didn't want a ticket so I said, "Okay."

Now, what if he calls me?

BLONDIE

DEAR BLONDIE: Tell him if he wants to charge you with "resisting an officer" to go ahead, because he's not all that irresistible.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, you had something in your column about people who have a misdemeanor on their record and how to get it removed.

At age 18, I was wrongly accused of being an accomplice to a minor shoplifting offense. (Ten dollars.) Being very much upset by the whole thing, I didn't fight the charge. I just went to court, paid the fine and it was put on my record.

I am now 21, married and want to apply for employment, but the previous job (where the shoplifting incident took place) was the only one I've ever had, so I wonder if you can help me.

I don't think a person should be penalized the rest of his life for one minor mistake at an early age.

If it's possible to get this off my record, how do I go about it?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BE: If you have been in no legal difficulty for a year following the incident, go to the Probation Department and inquire about the possibility of "sealing" your records.

Once they are sealed, it is as though they never existed and you may apply for a job without mentioning the fact that at one time you had this on your record. Good luck.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Was I ever glad to see that letter in your column from "Foolish Question," whose mother kept insisting that she felt pain in her leg which had been amputated.

It was not a foolish question, and I am glad you didn't tell her she was "nutty" as so many call me when I tell them that my toes itch when, indeed, I have no toes.

I had my leg amputated below the knee, and one day when I was all alone sitting on my bed, the stump started jumping up and down on the bed. I couldn't even hold it still with my hands!

By the time the doctor arrived, it had stopped jumping, but he explained that nature, which is a wonderful thing, was "rebelling." There should be more nerves in my leg than I had, and nature was lettting me know it.

You did a lot of amputees a big favor by printing that letter. Now, when we tell people that some part of our anatomy that isn't there is itching or throbbing or giving us pain, they won't look at us like we're loony.

ANOTHER AMPUTEE

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

CAPPY BRUCE WEINER
(Martin photo)

The Bar Mitzvah of Cappy Bruce Weiner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Weiner of Kingston, will take place Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, Kingston.

Congregation is invited to attend.

Noted Dancer Returning to Playhouse

In another coup de theatre, Harris Gordon, manager of the Woodstock Playhouse, announced today that internationally acclaimed ballet dancer and choreographer, Jacques d'Amboise, had been engaged for a return engagement at the Playhouse, Saturday, Aug. 31, at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. d'Amboise, together with Merrill Ashley and Ruth Ingalls, all stars of the New York City Ballet, had appeared at the Woodstock Playhouse earlier this season their first Ballet Encounter for this area. They played to a packed house and several hundred had to be turned away. A new and somewhat different program is planned for the August 31 show with a good possibility that Mr. d'Amboise may expand his company for this occasion and draw on their broad repertoire of classic and modern ballet.

This week's production of The Late Christopher Bean, a comedy in three acts, playing through August 18, will see this top professional Actors Equity Company at its very best with Kathleen Claypool, David Jones and Virginia Daly in leading roles. The Late Christopher Bean which was first produced by Gilbert Miller is the largest and most ambitious production at the Playhouse this season. It will be followed, during the week of August 20 through August 25 with 6 Rooms Riv Vu, a delightful comedy in which local professionals, Joan Schulich and Rochelle Haas, will be added to the cast of theatrical veterans.

The resident company will wind up its 1974 season on Sunday, Aug. 25, but its technical staff will remain through Labor Day to design and light up the stage for Jacques d'Amboise and Stars of New York City Ballet on August 31, and to provide proper background for the Hudson Valley Philharmonic POPS orchestra which promises to pack the house again with its unusual combination of light classical music and selections from My Fair Lady, Joplin's rags and more!

Final Friday Forum Slated

The public is invited this Friday to the last Noon Forum of the summer at the Art Students League Summer School in Woodstock. These informal discussions conducted by League Instructor Franklin Alexander have been a tradition at the League for many years.

Jack Faragasso, instructor at the Art Students League in New York City, will be the guest speaker. The title of Mr. Faragasso's talk will be "Illustration or Painting — Start to Finish," in which he will deal with the technical aspects of an illustration, as well as explain the situation of working with an art director. Mr. Faragasso will refer to about 25 original illustrations executed in oil, casein or tempera that were commissioned for covers of paperback books.

Jack Faragasso, fine artist, illustrator and teacher of art, studied at the Art Students League in New York and Woodstock with Frank J. Reilly, and subsequently spent a year in Florence, Italy studying the old masters. He was one of the nucleus of artists forming the "Little Studio" Gallery in New York City, and is represented in numerous private collections, while also receiving many commissions for his work. He has enjoyed a successful career illustrating thousands of paperbacks that have appeared in the United States and Europe.

An exhibition of work by current students of Franklin Alexander, Robert Angeloch and Bernard Steffen will continue through August 23. Gallery hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. weekdays. The Art Students League is located off Route 212, one mile from the Woodstock Playhouse, going toward Saugerties.

A Flavorful Labor Day Budget Saver

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Everyone continues to pinch pennies when shopping for meat. However, marinating a lesser cut of beef is a good way to increase the flavor, make it more tender and keep costs down. A Spit-Roasted Olive Beef is marinated overnight and the marinade reserved and used as a sauce base with olive relish to serve with meat slices.

Spit-Roasted Olive Beef

Three-fourths cup dry red wine or wine vinegar
Two-thirds cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
Four pounds beef (round) roast, boned and tied
Two tablespoons butter or margarine
One-half cup chopped onion
One-half cup boilding water
Two beef bouillon cubes
One cup cold water
Four teaspoons cornstarch
One teaspoon bottled browning sauce
One cup sliced celery
Whole pimiento-stuffed olives
Parsley sprigs

Place wine and sliced olives in shallow dish. Add beef and turn until coated with marinade. Chill overnight, turning occasionally. Reserve marinade. Balance meat on rotisserie spit. Piace about 10 inches from source of heat. Grill or broil one and one-fourth to one and three-fourths hours depending on desired degree of doneness. (Without a rotisserie or smoker-cooker, wrap beef in foil and cook as roast over charcoal.)

About 10 minutes before serving time, prepare olive sauce for beef. Heat butter in skillet; add onion and saute until golden. Add boiling water to bouillon cubes in small bowl and stir until cubes are dissolved. Stir cold water and cornstarch together in small bowl until blended. Add bouillon mixture, cornstarch mixture, browning sauce and reserve marinade to skillet. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add celery and simmer about three minutes more or until celery is crisp-tender. Pour mixture into a colander over a bowl to separate olive mixture from sauce. Spoon olive mixture around meat on serving platter and garnish with whole olives and parlsey. Spoon some of sauce over meat and serve remainder in dish. Makes 6 servings.

Marinade makes less expensive beef cut flavorful and tender.

Try Barbecuing Your Vegetables

Grill vegetables directly over charcoal for cookout taste treat.

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Singles and families alike are enjoying the bounty of their home gardens this summer. As a result more are trying new ways to prepare and serve their cucumbers, tomatoes, corn, eggplant, squash and carrots. A perfect way, simple and just right for a Labor Day cookout, is to grill them on the charcoal. Place vegetables brushed with melted butter directly on the grill over medium-hot coals instead of wrapping them in foil. The charcoal flavor permeates the vegetables and proves a delicious addition to barbecued foods.

Charcoaled Eggplant Slices

Melt one-fourth cup butter or margarine. Remove from heat and stir in two tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese. Cut one medium unpeeled eggplant-- into slices three-eighths-inch thick. Brush one side of all slices with salt and pepper. Place on grill with buttered side down. Grill about 6 inches from medium hot- coals until lightly browned, about 3 to 5 minutes. Brush top side with butter mixture. Turn with pancake turner and grill until fork-tender and browned, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately. --Peel helps to hold shape of eggplant but becomes tough during charcoaling. Discard peels before eating grilled slices. Makes 4 servings.

Grilled Mushrooms

Carefully remove stems from 8 large mushrooms. (Use stems for soups, stews or casseroles.) Brush mushrooms with about three tablespoons melted butter or margarine; place top side down on grill. Grill about 6 inches from medium hot-coals for about 1° minutes or until tender. Brush with butter twice. Do not turn. Remove with pancake turner. Serve with the juices which collect in mushroom caps. Makes 4 servings.

Grilled Dilled Tomatoes

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Stir in one-half teaspoon dried dill weed. Cut 2 large tomatoes in half and brush cut sides with butter sauce. Grill, cut sides down, 6 inches from medium hot-coals until lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Brush skins of tomatoes with butter sauce; turn with pancake turner. Brush cut sides again with the butter sauce and grill until fork tender, abut 7 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Charcoal Briquet Fire

Different brands of charcoal give off varying degrees of heat. To test the temperature of a charcoal briquet fire, cautiously hold your hand, palm side down, just above the grill. Judge temperature by number of seconds hand can be kept in position. For these recipes a medium-hot temperature is desired. Your hand should be kept in postiiton for 3 seconds.

To lower temperature of charcoal fire, raise grill or separate coals. To raise temperature, tap the outer gray layer from coals and push coals closer together. If more coals are needed, add them to outer edge of coals.

SUGAR SUBSTITUTES IN JELLIES

If you've been looking for an inexpensive substitute for sugar in jam and jelly making — forget it! There's no such thing, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist. According to the USDA bulletin, "How to Make Jams, Jellies and Preserves at Home," either corn syrup or honey can be used in place of part, but not all, of the sugar in the recipes for jellied fruit products in that publication. However, in comparing the price of sugar, corn syrup and honey, you will find that one cup of sugar costs about 12 cents, one cup of corn syrup costs about 22 cents and one cup of honey is about 42 cents.

In recipes without added pectin, light corn syrup can replace up to one-fourth of the sugar in jellies and up to one-half of the sugar in any of the products. With liquid pectin, corn syrup can replace up to 2 cups of the sugar.

Products made with honey will have a darker color than those made with sugar as the sugar is the only sweetening, and the flavor will be somewhat different. Light, mild-flavored honey generally is the best kind to use. Honey can replace up to one-half of the sugar in any of the recipes where no pectin is added. In products made with added pectin, 2 cups of honey can replace two cups of sugar in most recipes. Only three-fourths to 1 cup of sugar should be replaced by honey in the small recipes yielding 5 to 6 glasses.

If you want to use these in place of sugar for some differences in flavor and color, that's another matter. But, as you can see, you won't save any money. In fact, your jelly will cost more to make.

You may have been wondering if you could use one of the low and non-calorie sweeteners in your jam and jelly recipes to take the place of sugar. The answer is no. These sugar substitutes give a sweet flavor but do not have sugar's other important properties. Sugar not only contributes to flavor, but most importantly, it is essential as a gelling and preserving agent.

Some makers of sugar substitutes have developed recipes for refrigerator and freezer jellies. You must follow the recipe formulated for that particular product. Since artificial sweeteners will not produce the gel necessary to give jams and jellies proper spreading consistency, these recipes call for a small amount of unflavored gelatin. No pectin is required. Sugar substitutes do not have the preserving properties of sugar. Therefore, jams and jellies made with them must be stored in the refrigerator or freezer.

Budget Meat Items 'Limited'

Budget minded people will find little comfort in either the number or variety of sales on meat this week, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. Recent price increases for slaughter animals at the wholesale level are beginning to cool off, but not in time to hold the line at the retail level. Items that will carry reasonable prices will be limited and the same as usual. Whole chickens as well as cut parts, pork chops and some beef forequarter cuts will be around to help out the menu and budget.

In the beef line, sirloin steaks and roasts will carry price tags of $1.49 to $1.59; boneless beef round cuts at $1.49; chuck roasts and steaks will range from 79 cents to $1.29, depending on amount of bone and trim. One good sale will put boneless chuck steaks in the hands of shoppers for 99 cents a pound. London broil is being sold at $1.69; ground chuck will be hanging on prices of 89 cents to 99 cents with ground beef in some areas for 79 cents and corned beef at 69 cents will be a good buy.

Pork cuts will also be very lightly featured. Pork chops will be the main attraction item. Rib chops will be at 98 cents to $1.09 and centers from $1.15 to $1.45 and pork shoulder roasts at an enticing 69 cents per pound. Bacon and most other cuts remain at last week's price levels.

Poultry items to be highlighted will be mostly whole chickens at 39 cents a pound and cut-ups at 45 cents. Chicken breasts will be priced at 89 cents and legs for 69 cents. Turkeys, that are on sale, will hold a 49 cent price tag.

YOUTH SURVEY — Thomas Phillips (L) and Roger Vogt (center) Ulster County probation officers, show County Legislator S. Robert Kelder (R-Dist. 5) chairman of the Legislature's Youth and Recreation Committee, results of a partially completed survey to determine the need for the creation of an Ulster County Youth Board.

'Ulster Needs a Youth Board' . . . Results of Area Surveys

KINGSTON — "Ulster County needs a youth board!" That is the opinion of the many citizens now working on the Ulster County Youth Board Organizational Committee. And that opinion is shared by almost all of the respondents to the surveys sent out by the committee in June of this year.

To prove the need for a youth board to the Ulster County Legislature, the committee must show need and demand for it by the citizens and agencies of Ulster County.

To do this, the committee, headed by county probation officers Thomas Phillips and Roger Vogt Jr., has sent out over 600 surveys. These surveys went to social agencies, schools, religious organizations, law enforcement people, guidance counselors, and community leaders.

An extensive survey, it is being conducted to ask for indications of major problems and possible solutions connected with the youth (people under 21) of Ulster County. The surveys also ask if the respondents feel a county-wide Youth Board could help solve some of these problems.

To date about one-third of the surveys have been filled out and returned. Many major problems and solutions have been identified and the response is definitely in favor of establishing an Ulster County Youth Board as a possible method of dealing with the problems and implementing the solutions.

Members of the committee are also seeking endorsements for the Youth Board from organizations and community leaders, as well as requesting that interested citizens write to their county legislators in favor of the establishment of the board.

The proposal for the establishment of the board will go to the County Legislature in September. A Youth Board could solve many of the problems of the youth in this country by providing communication among existing agencies, coordinating all youth services in the county, doing research and planning for new programs to deal with the unmet needs of youth, disseminating information, and especially, channeling funds available to Ulster County from the New York Division for Youth, according to Phillips and Vogt.

Many other counties throughout the state are enjoying great benefits as a result of having establishedd Youth Boards, they said.

Ellenville Foster Children ...Tough Stand Is Taken

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE — The Ellenville Board of Education, at the urging of its attorney, adopted a tough stand on foster children attending the Ellenville schools, at its meeting Tuesday night.

According to the resolution the board adopted, no foster children for whom tuition is owed for last year will be admitted to the school in the coming school year.

"That's the only way we can enforce the law," said Benjamin Lonstein, the board's attorney.

The law Lonstein was referring to took effect last January. It requires that tuition, either from a social services department or a school district depending on the situation, be paid to the district which is educating a foster child who came from outside its boundaries.

The only foster children whose tuition has been paid for Jan. 1-June 30 period in which the law was in effect last school year are from Ulster County, according to both Lonstein and Business Manager Sol Sashin.

The new law, which Ellenville fought for for years, and finally achieved with the aid of Asemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock), should bring a lot of money into the Ellenville schools. Board member Jack Siegel said $44,000 had been budgeted this year as anticipated reveneus in that category.

"We don't want to be left holding the bag," said Siegel.

Lonstein pointed out that the district was just asking for money which it was owed, and not for pre-payment of tuition.

"I'm trynig to set a pattern to educate these districts," said Lonstein. Notice of the board's decision will be sent out to the affected school districts in the near future.

In other action, the board approved a recommendation by Superintendent of Schools James Evergetis that the position of district curriculum coordinator be created, as a salary of $22,000 a year, but not before Board member Morris Posner had his say against it.

Posner said the district was paying $100,000 for people who were supposed to be working on curriculum, including the superintendent. "My recommendation is that the superintendent roll up his sleeves," Posner said.

Board member Lee Augustine said the district's present administrators had other duties, such as teacher evaluation and discipline, which demanded their time.

Board President Sonia Olsen, pointing out that Evergetis is new on the job, said to Posner, "I think your attack was a little uncalled for."

Posner demurred, saying what he gave was only "good healthy critcism."

A Posner motion to cut down on the number of items discussed in executive session by the board was soundly defeated.

Augustine is to report at the next meeting with the full particulars of a proposal of his to allow senior citizens to attend certain school activities free.

The board declined to endorse a blanket policy of allowing senior citizens to rent the district's buses, some board members citing it as an intrusion on private enterprise, but informally agreed to consider requests for such buses when none other were available, on an individual basis.

Matteawan State Center Plans to Continue

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — After meeting with lawmakers from the mid-Hudson area, Gov. Malcolm Willson announced Tuesday that, despite community concern, the state will go ahead with plans to build a reception-classification center at Matteawan-Beacon State Hospital.

Wilson said he was aware of community concern about the center, but said the facility was being designed in an effort to minimize its impact on the neighborhood.

The decision to build the facility on the presently planned site was made following a meeting between the governor and Sen. Jay Rolison Jr. and Assemblyman Benjamin P. Roosa, both Republicans.

The Department of Corrections, Wilson said, had modified the western perimeter to move a patrol road 136 feet away from the nearest private home.

He said the reception center could be built so as to be "virtually invisible" from the private homes on the western perimeter.

Wilson added, he had asked Department of Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler to recommend plans to cut traffic problems.

The reception center, when fully staffed, will provide employment for more than 800 persons, Wilson said. He added that its construction at a cost of about $30 million would provide jobs "for hard-pressed construction workers in the Mid-Hudson region."

Saratoga Music Hall

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI)) — Discussions were underway Tuesday for possible co-sponsorship of an American Music Hall of Fame, possibly to be located at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center in this resort city.

Tentative plans called for SPAC and the American Song Festival — which is sponsoring a program of original music by contemporary composers at the center this summer — to develop the facility.

Saratoga is already famous for its ties with horse racing and is the home of the Racing Hall of Fame and Museum.

A board of directors for the venture is now being organized. The creation of the facility is being discussed by SPAC officials, members of the Saratoga Chamber of Commerce and the New York Racing Association.

Candidates for the Music Hall of Fame, a spokesman said, would include creators and performers of a large range of American music, such as Stephen Foster, Scott Joplin, Irving Berlin, Carole King, Eubie Blake, Sammy Cahn, Jérome Kern, and others.

A spokesman for SPAC said it would be logical to have the center sponsor such a museum, because it now is the summer home of the Philadelphia Orchestra and the New York City Ballet Company.

The spokesman said the song festival "would serve as a catalyst for future composers and performers."

Time Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Standard time will return for four months beginning the last Sunday in October if Congress passes a bill cleared for floor action by the House Commerce Committee.

The committee approved the measure Tuesday and it could be on the House floor this week. It calls for daylight saving time to resume on the last Sunday in February.

Year-round daylight time was enacted last year as an energy-saving measure. Before that it had been in effect six months a year.

300,000 Due Back Pay as Reservists

WASHINGTON

An estimated 300,000 present and former members of the Army Reserve are scheduled to receive checks totaling about $4.8 million in back pay soon.

Payment will be made to present and former Army Reservists who attended unit meetings or annual training, or who were on active duty for training with the Army or one of the other military services, at any time during the period from Oct. 1 through Dec. 31, 1972.

Congress authorized the back pay following a successful court action against President Nixon's decision in 1972 to withhold a pay boost for the three-month period. The increase, originally scheduled for all military personnel starting Oct. 1, 1972, did not actually take effect until Jan. 1, 1973.

Under the procedures worked out by the Office, Chief Army Reserve, those entitled to back pay because of service with an Army Reserve unit during the three-month period — and who are in a Ready Reserve unit now — do not have to file a claim. Their units will be responsible for processing payments and they should receive their back pay in their next quarterly pay checks.

Men and women now assigned to Army Reserve units who served with the Regular Army during the period Oct. 1 through Dec. 31, 1972, must submit their claims to the United States Army Finance Support Agency (USAFSA), Department 77, Indianapolis, Ind. 46249.

Current Army Reservists who are eligible for the back pay due to service with one of the other Amed Forces must submit their claims to one of the following:

Navy: Commanding Officer, Navy Finance Center, Central Accounts Department, New Federal Office Building, Cleveland, Ohio 44199.

Marine Corps: Marine Corps Finance Center, Kansas City, Mo. 64197.

Air Force: AFAFC, 3800 York Street, Denver, Colo. 80205.

Men and women Reservists no longer with an Army Reserve unit but who are assigned to the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) also must file claims in order to receive their back pay.

Those current IRR members, who were assigned to the IRR during the Oct. through Dec. period in 1972 should submit their claims to:

Commander, U.S. Army Reserve Components Personnel and Administration Center (RCPAC), ATT: AGUZ-TAD-DP, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Mo. 63132.

Those current IRR members who were assigned to an Army Reserve unit during the period for which the back pay has been authorized should mail their claims to the appropriate Continental U.S. Army (CONUSA) covering the state in which their unit was located in the Oct. 1 through Dec. 31, 1972 time frame.

Matlack Impresses LA

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jon Matlack's record may not seem impressive to the general public, but there is a consensus of opinion among rival players that there are few better pitchers in the National League than the 24-year-old left-hander of the New York Mets.

Matlack has little chance of winning 20 games this year and you will not find his name listed among the league leaders in strikeouts or complete games. Yet if you were to take a poll of NL batters, asking them to list the pitchers that are toughest to hit, it's a good bet Matlack's name would be prominently mentioned.

"I'd say he's one of the top three left-handers in the league," said Steve Garvey of Los Angeles Tuesday night after Matlack had blanked the Dodgers 3-0 on four hits for his league-leading fifth shutout of the year and 11th win in 20 decisions. "I'd say (Steve) Carlton, (Jerry) Reuss when he's right, and Matlack are the three best.

"Matlack has a good live fastball that bores in on a right-handed hitter and he throws three pitches well—the fastball, a sharp curve and a slider. His record is very misleading. You've got to have some offense behind you occasionally to be a big winner."

The Mets didn't exactly rip the stuffing out of the ball in support of Matlack, collecting only six hits off three Dodger pitchers. But they did get a two-run homer from Jerry Grote and a triple by Felix Millan that led to a another run. That was enough the way Matlack was pitching.

"This was the kind of game that every pitcher wants to have every time out," Matlack said. "I'd say it ranks with the better games I've pitched this year. I was in complete control of the situation at all times. I knew what I wantel to do and I was able to do it. When you're pitching like that, there's very little the opposing team can do."

The triumph was the Mets' second straight over the NL West Division leaders, but the Dodgers remained 5½ games of second place Cincinnati when the Reds lost to Pittsburgh.

Schmidt, Zisk Star

A year ago Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies and Richie Zisk of the Pittsburgh Pirates were two of the most frustrated players in the majors.

Today they are among the National League's brightest young stars and key players in their teams' pennant hopes.

Schmidt, who was overanxious in 1973 and wound up hitting .196, is tied for the NL lead with 27 homers and tops in runs batted in with 91 while Zisk, lost in the numerous shuffles made by the Pirates to find a replacement for the late Roberto Clemente, is batting .321 with 12 homers and 73 RBIs.

Schmidt knocked in three runs with a pair of homers to power the Phillies to a 6-5 victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night and Zisk went 4-for-6 and drove in three runs in the Pirates' 14-3 rout of the Cincinnati Reds. The Phillies trail first-place St. Louis by a half game with the Pirates another game back in the NL Eastern Division race.

"I beat myself down physically last season when I got into slumps," explained Schmidt. "The difference this year is that I don't worry as much. I know I'm going to hit. I was 1-for-20 going into this game but I knew I'd get even with a big game."

"Zisk is a model hitter," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson. "If you want to teach a kid to hit have him watch Zisk . . . his shoulders and his head . . . nothing moves when he strides. He has perfect balance and doesn't chase bad balls."

San Diego defeated St. Louis 2-1, Atlanta downed Montreal 4-3 and Houston topped Chicago 3-1 in other NL games.

Schmidt's 26th homer with one on capped a three-run outburst in the first inning and he connected for No. 27 in the third. Dick Ruthven went 5 2-3 innings for his fifth win for the Phillies with Gene Garber and Ron Schueler finishing up. Jim Barr suffered his sixth loss against 10 wins.

Zisk drove in three runs with a homer and three singles and Al Oliver knocked in five with a homer, two singles and a sacrifice fly to lead the Pirates' 21-hit attack. It was the 10th straight game in which Zisk has driven in at least one run, leaving him one short of the NL record set by Hall of Famer Mel Ott in 1929. Larry Demery allowed nine hits, including homers by George Foster and Dan Driessen, but went the distance to win his third game.

Padres 2 Cardinals 1

Dave Winfield drove in both San Diego runs with a single and a double, leading the Padres over the Cardinals. Winfield singled home Dave Hilton in the first and doubled him home in the fifth in handing Sonny Siebert his seventh setback. Lowell Palmer, pressed into relief when Vicente Romo suffered a pulled muscle in his throwing arm in the first inning, allowed six hits in 8 1-3 innings for his second victory.

Braves 4 Expos 3

Dusty Baker drove in two runs with a homer and a single as the Braves stretched their winning streak to five games. Ron Reed went 8 2-3 innings for his eighth victory with ninth-inning relief help from Phil Niekro.

Astros 3 Cubs 1

Cesar Cedeno tripled for his third hit of the game opening the ninth and scored the first two runs in the inning on Milt May's single to give Dave Roberts his seventh win for the Astros. Bill Bonham suffered his 15th loss against 10 victories for the Cubs.

ONE ON ONE — A's Billy North stole his 43rd base of the season in the sixth inning of Wednesday night's game against the Yanks, then went to third when catcher Thurm Munson threw wildly into centerfield. Here, third baseman Craig Nettles takes the throw from the outfield. North later scored on another Munson throwing error on a pick-off attempt as Oakland went on to win, 6-1. (UPI)

A's Billy North A One-Man Show

OAKLAND (UPI) — It was a Billy North show from start to finish.

The fleet Oakland A's' centerfielder opened Tuesday night's game, which wound up in a 6-1 victory over the New York Yankees, by saving pitcher Ken Holtzman with a great catch and he ended it by driving in one insurance run in the seventh and scoring another.

In between, North almost became involved in a fight with Yankee catcher Thurman Munson, whom he personally humiliated with his base running, but nothing became of their exchange.

George Medich, trying to snap a personal three-game losing streak, had the A's shut out on one hit when North opened the sixth inning by beating out a bunt. He then stole second and when Munson threw wildly into center, North continued to third.

With Sal Bando at bat, Munson tried to pick North off third and again threw wild. North picked himself out of the dirt at third and scored. Munson tried to block the plate even though third baseman Graig Nettles never made a throw. North didn't like it and had words with Munson.

"He had the plate blocked on the outside and I came in on the inside," North explained. "He had no right to block me out since he didn't have the ball and after I went by him, he kicked me. That's what got me upset."

There is no Munson version of the play since he hid from newsmen in the New York dressing room after the game. It's probably just as well because Munson later made a third error and now has 19.

A's' Manager Alvin Dark said he thought Munson made a mistake in blocking off North but that he didn't believe Munson did it on purpose.

"He's too high class a guy to do that," said Dark. "In my opinion, if the same play occured again he wouldn't do what he did. A catcher's job is to block the plate but when he didn't have the ball he should have let the runner come on. Certainly, North isn't to blame for anything. It's really an unfortunate incident."

Holtzman limited the Yankees to seven hits in evening his record at 13-13, while Medich took his 11th loss in 24 decisions. It was Medich's fourth consecutive defeat since winning Player of the Month honors in July.

The run North scored in the sixth tied the score and before the inning was over, the A's had a 3-1 lead. They added three more in the seventh to complete the scoring.

The victory kept the defending World Champions 6½ games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

Palmer Returns

Jim Palmer's values have changed and he's only interested in one thing now—but if he helps the Baltimore Orioles in the process, that's fine too.

Palmer, the pitcher with the best-won lost percentage in the majors over the past four seasons but hampered by arm trouble this season, pitched strong six-hit ball for six innings Tuesday night to help lift Baltimore to a 8-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and end a four-game Oriole tailspin.

Palmer, last year's Cy Young winner, boasts a mark of 83-38 over the past four campaigns but only a 4-8 mark this year and he made his first start since June 16. He was taken off the disabled list just prior to Tuesday's game and has taken medication, undergone heat treatment, done everything possible to get back into winning form and the result has been a changed attitude which he attributes to his surprising won-lost record.

"It's funny how your values change when you're 3-8," Palmer said. "You just settle for a win. What I've been concerned about is not really being able to help the club. I've been under medications, done stretching exercises and heat treatment and the big question is how I'll feel three days from now."

Boog Powell gave Palmer a big lift when he powered his seventh career grand slam in the first inning and the Orioles jumped to a 7-0 lead in the first two innings.

"Seven runs gives you a certain leeway," Palmer said. "Physically, I feel fine but any pitcher could have done as well under the circumstances tonight."

Powell cracked his eighth homer and 299th of his career in the first after a walk and a pair of throwing errors had loaded the bases. Grant Jackson hurled the last three innings to gain his ninth save.

In other games, Kansas City stopped Detroit 6-2, Milwaukee trimmed Texas 5-1 and Boston nipped California 3-0.

Brewers 5, Rangers 1

John Briggs' two-run single sparked a four-run Brewer eighth inning but the game was interrupted by a near-brawl that emptied both benches.

After Milwaukee had moved in front with its big eighth inning, Brewer shortstop Tim Johnson was injured in the bottom half of the inning when Mike Hargrove slid into him at second base. While a trainer was administering to Johnson, Ranger third base coach Frank Lucchesi, apparently incensed by comments from the Milwaukee bench, walked toward the dugout and immediately became involved in a shoving match with Brewer outfielder Ken Berry.

Both benches headed toward the confrontation but no fight erupted.

Red Sox 3, Angels 0

Free-wheeling Luis Tiant picked up his 18th win in 26 decisions with a four-hit shutout to tie Chicago's Wilbur Wood for the major league lead in wins. The triumph gave the AL East-leading Red Sox a four-game lead over idle Cleveland.

Royals 6, Tigers 2

Amos Otis ran his hitting streak to 16 games and drove in two runs with sacrifice flies and Steve Mingori continued his perfect relief pitching in the Royals' victory over Detroit. Mingori took over with one out in the eighth inning and shut out the Tigers the rest of the way to make it 25⅓ consecutive innings in which he has not allowed an earned run.

Duran May Be Banned If He Doesn't Sign

NEW YORK (UPI) — The likelihood is that the Roberto Duran-Miguel Barreto non-title bout scheduled for Monday night, Aug. 19 will never come off.

The New York State Athletic Commission voted unanimously Tuesday to prohibit lightweight champion Duran's scheduled 10-rounder with Barreto unless the Panamanian acknowledges in writing by today at noon that he will honor a committment to fight Scotland's Ken Buchanan.

Edwin B. Dooley, chairman of the commission, said Duran and his manager, Carlos Eleta, must submit a written agreement that the champion will defend his title against Buchanan by that time. If not, Duran will again be under suspension by the commission and the fight against Barreto will be canceled.

One published report had Duran returning to Panama on Eleta's orders, which would have the effect of definitely kayoing the fight, with Eleta saying that the proposed date with Buchanan was off for October in New York.

Dooley said that 13 months ago the commission had suspended Duran for failing to honor a contract for a rematch with Buchanan that Duran signed two years ago. The suspension was lifted recently, Dooley said, "on condition that he (Duran) make good on the Buchanan contract."

At the time the suspension was lifted, Dooley said, Duran and Eleta were given 90 days to arrange a match with Buchanan. Those 90 days are up Wednesday at noon.

Dooley said Duran agreed in Sept., 1972, to give Buchanan a rematch after the Panamanian took the title away from the Scot with a 13th round knockout on June 26 of that year. Duran

Congressmen Warn Owners

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A dozen congressmen have warned National Football League owners to reach a fair agreement with the players' union or face a complete review of football's antitrust exemptions.

The congressmen, in a letter to John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, also warned the owners against trying to break the players' union.

In their letter, the congressmen said, "We are today calling on both the owners and the players, but . . . particularly the owners . . . to sit down again Thursday and this time reach a fair compromise agreement.

"If they do not or if the union is significantly injured, we want it known that we will undertake a complete review of the National Football League's antitrust status, and if the facts warrant, introduce appropriate legislaion."

Signers of the letter included Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee which deals with restraints of trade, who said several bills are pending which would affect the NFL's antitrust exemptions.

Others signing the letter were Reps. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., Parren V. Mitchell, D-Md., George E. Brown Jr., D-Calif., Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., Walter E. Fauntroy, D-D.C., Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., John Conyers, Jr., D-Mich., Donald W. Riegle, D-Mich., Joe Moakley, D-Mass., and James C. Corman, D-Calif.

The players' decision to suspend their strike and go to training camps for a 14-day cooling-off period was "in the best interests of the NFL and the millions of football fans in the United States," the congressmen said in their letter. "We await a comparable move by the owners demonstrating their good faith in seeking a fair agreement with the players."

In New York, a spokesman for the Management Council said it had not received the letter but added, "We know the record of the negotiations will show that we have bargained in good faith and we would invite Congressman Moss or anyone else to examine it."

The letter added, "While most of the evidence of inadequate bargaining points to the owners as the reticent party, the players are not wholly without responsibility."

The congressmen also warned against the owners trying to break the union even though they "might have the financial muscle to do it."

"That is where the Congress comes in," they added. "One reason why the owners have the financial muscle to refuse to bargain or to damage the players' union is because of the special treatment they have received from the Congress through exemptions from the antitrust laws for broadcast pooling agreements and for the NFL-AFL merger."

Stars Host Storm

NEW YORK (AP) — The Portland Storm, averaging only 12 points a game, is pinning its hopes on rookie quarterback Ken Johnson in tonight's World Football League game against the New York Stars.

Johnson, a rookie out of Colorado, replaced Greg Barton late in last week's 15-15 overtime tie with Houston. He gained 56 yards rushing on 11 carries and led the Storm on a game-tying drive late in the overtime that covered 72 yards in 16 plays.

In other games tonight, Jacksonville is at Florida, Memphis visits Detroit, Birmingham hosts Hawaii, and Philadelphia travels to Chicago. In Thursday's TV game, Southern California is at Houston.

Chamberlain Ponders The Fateful Decision

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI) — Next week, Wilt Chamberlain will be 38 years old. He doesn't need the money, he doesn't need any more records or championships but he's not sure he wants to stop playing basketball.

He'll make the decision soon and if he decides to play one more year, it will be with the ABA San Diego Conquistadors, whom he coached last season under a one-year contract. If he doesn't play, he won't coach again.

Chamberlain came back to the mountain resort where he once was a bellhop as he weighs the factors involved in his decision. He now owns a Los Angeles volleyball franchise in a brand-new 10-team league. He's involved with a girls track club and has appointments to keep in Europe and cities around the U.S.

If he decides that playing, coaching and owning teams at the same time is too demanding, Chamberlain will leave behind his records as the top rebounder and scorer in basketball history.

After playing about 25 minutes in the Maurice Stokes charity game here Tuesday night—his first outing in 1 ½ years since his Los Angeles Lakers lost to New York in the NBA championships—Chamberlain, sweating heavily, said he "felt like I haven't played in five years." He took only one shot, didn't score, hit the rim on one of his two free throws but still showed signs of intimidation on the defensive board.

"I've been everywhere in the world I wanted to be," Chamberlain said. "I've got everything I want. But the desire's still there to play basketball. I just have to decide which I want more or see if I can fit everything in. There's just not enough time for everything."

Chamberlain will retain his part-ownership of the San Diego franchise even if he decides not to play or coach.

"I enjoyed coaching for one year," he said. "It was a good experience but I wouldn't want to continue it if I'm not going to play. If I had the time to coach I'd have the time to play.

"Volleyball's more my game now anyway. It's more fun and it's going to be very big here soon, professionally. With that NCAA ruling allowing undergraduates to play another sport professionally without giving up their amateur status in a different sport, we'll be able to get the best young basketball players plus the NBA and ABA players in the summer."

The older people here still tell the stories about Wilt as a bellhop—how he used to hustle, carry six suitcases at once, how they saw him lift a car once. Wilt comes back here almost every year if he can possibly make it. The owners and guests are middle class Jewish but Wilt, a rich, black millionaire somehow feels at home here. This is where he started and this is where he may decide to end his spectacular basketball career.

Vols Even Series

KINGSTON

The Vols built up a 5-1 lead in the first three innings and held on to edge Turk Construction 7-5 Tuesday to even the Junior Babe Ruth League championship series at one game each. The third and deciding contest is scheduled Thursday night at Dietz Stadium.

Gary LaConture went the distance for the Vols, yielding six hits and striking out five. The winners had eight hits off John Acker, who took the loss, and Jay Foust.

A two-run triple by Ron Kahlstorf and LaConture's two-run double highlighted the Vols' four-run outburst in the third inning. They added single tallies in the second, fourth and fifth innings.

After two unearned runs in the fourth, Turk's picked up an authentic pair in the sixth on Tony Grimaldi's triple, a sacrifice fly by Mike Mercier and Acker's single after a single and steal by Mike McWeeney.

Phil Haber led the Vols with a double and two singles and Kahlstorf had a single-double combination.

McGinnis Would Prefer Playing in New York

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI) — Unless the NBA Philadelphia 76ers waive or trade the rights to muscular 6-foot 8 George McGinnis to the New York Knicks in the next few days, the forward who may rank among the three best in the pros will sign again with the ABA Indiana Pacers.

McGinnis, here to play in the 16th annual Maurice Stokes charity game, said he would "settle for second best" by remaining with the Pacers. Not that he's unhappy in Indianapolis, where he grew up and has lived all his life, but as he said, "New Yorks' a bigger showcase and a betterplace to boogy."

The Knicks, who won the NBA championship twice in the last five years and lost it last spring in the semifinals to Boston, may be headed toward the cellar in the Atlantic Division with the combined loss of Willis Reed, Dave DeBusschere and Jerry Lucas. Those three pulled down most of the rebounds in the last five years.

McGinnis, quicker, more agile and even more powerfully-built than Reed, though two inches shorter and not as polished defensively, is the answer to the Knicks' problems. Last season he set an ABA record for rebounds in a game and was among the top scorers in the league.

"Philadelphia just won't give up the rights," McGinnis complained. "I'd love to play in New York but they can't seem to get it together. Right now I'm almost 100 per cent certain I'm going to sign with Indiana because I just can't see that New York deal working out."

Gene Shue, trying to build a winner in Philadelphia as he did in Baltimore, likely wants some quality players from New York for the rights to the talented 24-year old. The Knicks, the oldest team in the league last season, have no young player with as much superstar potential as McGinnis to trade. But they do have several good if not-quite star players who would help Philadelphia especially if combined with someone like Earl Monroe.

Perhaps Shue is thinking if he can't get McGinnis, the last place he wants him to go is New York, which his team will be fighting for a playoff spot. That way the Knicks lose, the 76ers lose and McGinnis loses. And the Pacers will wind up with a player who'd rather be somewhere else.

"The Knicks will really be struggling this year without Reed and DeBusschere," McGinnis said. "I sure could help that team. But sometimes you gotta settle for second best. I'll probably sign with Indiana in the next few days if nothing

Bill Zeeh and Barbara Tochterman won over Ron Schoonmaker and Mary Bach 6-3, 6-1.

Semi-finals in the men's doubles will be played Thursday. In the women's singles, Chris Miller's semi-fina round match is scheduled Thursday at 5:30 p.m. The Goldin-Fowler semi will be played Thursday at 3 p.m.

In mixed doubles, the Tochterman-Zeeh vs. Sykes-Emanuel match is scheduled Friday at 5:30 p.m.

In the other mixed doubles, Tom Provenzano and Chris

Cards 42-38-80 at Wiltwyck

Mrs. Spiesman Leads Northeastern

KINGSTON — Mrs. Clifford C. (Arlene) Spiesman, who spends as much time in the airlanes as she does on the fairways these days, surprised the 68-player Northeastern New York Women's Golf Association field with a snappy 42-38-80 to win Class A honors Tuesday at her home layout at Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Mrs. Spiesman's 80, spiced with a trio of birdies, highlighted a generally excellent showing by Wiltwyck women who carded the three lowest grosses of the day and seven of the top ten.

Mrs. M. Richard (Betty) Davenport rebounded from a front nine 45 to post 38 and 83 for the runnerup spot. Mrs. Arthur H. (Marilyn) Motzkin placed third with 44-40-84. Mrs. Richard L. (Mary) Treat was in sixth place with 42-44-86. Mrs. Kenneth (Nancy) Lowe had 89 and Nancy Kolin fashioned 44-42-86 and net 78. At 8, she was the lowest handicap player in the field.

Mrs. Robert O. (Charlotte) Merritt won low net honors in Class B with 91-20-61. Mrs. Robert Wall of Mohawk fire low gross of 46-43-89. Mrs. Edith DeWitt of Wiltwyck and Mrs. Richard Gogg of Wiltwyck were among the low net leaders with 75 and Mrs. Seymour (Nina) Werbalowsky had 76. Mrs. Merritt, a 20-handicapper, survived a disastrous 8-7 start to post 50-41-91.

Mrs. Spiesman, who said she was "very excited" about leading the field, had played only one 18-hole round prior to Tuesday's tournament. She participated in the Wiltwyck Invitational event. Although she had several nine hole practice rounds, she had played in less formal competition than in many years.

The reason? In recent years, she's become an airplane pilot and is working her way up to a highest ranking possible.

Mrs. Spiesman birdied the 10th hole with a four-putt, rolled in a 20-footer for a birdie-2 on the 11th and canned a 7-footer for a birdie-3 on the 15th which has never been a birdie paradise for women golfers.

"I was putting very well," she said, "and that always lifts my game." Her scorecard showed only one three-putt green and a few near-misses for potential birdies.

Mrs. Spiesman and her husband, Clifford, are planning their longest flight to date in a few days when they fly to Wake Forest, N.C. where their son, Randy Spiesman, is entering Wake Forest College in September. Their previous longest jaunts were to Vermont.

At Wake Forest, Randy will get a chance to watch a famous Wiltwyck junior alumni—Bobby Byman—with the NCAA golf champion Wake Forest varsity.

ARLENE SPIESMAN

Nears Signing

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons are on the verge of signing their top draft pick, Al Eberhard of Missouri, says General Manager Ed Coil.

Coil said the 6-foot-6, 220-pound star has lowered his demands, the Pistons have raised their offer and now the main item of contention is the duration of the pact.

Red Hook Undefeated in Swim League

MIDDLETOWN — Red Hook Sea Raiders hammered out a 329-163 victory over Middletown to clinch the best won-lost record in the Bi-Valley Swim League with a 7-0 record in league competition and 9-0 overall for the summer. Hyde Park finished second in dual meet competition with a 6-2 mark.

The Sea Raiders captured 41 of 57 first places, with honors divided evenly between the boys and girls. The winners captured eight of 10 butterfly races, nine of 10 breast stroke races, seven of the eight individual medleys and seven of nine freestyle relays to completely outclass their Orange County opponents.

Kelly Mosher and Bobby Spallina registered triples for Red Hook. Mosher winning in the freestyle, butterfly and individual medley and Mosher taking firsts in the same three categories. Six Raiders turned in double wins: Joan Lynch, Ann Hoch, Dave Martin, Doug Theberge, Tom Rancich and Bill Hladik. Middletown's Cavenaugh and Misner also claimed two wins each.

Red Hook has scored 2,680 points against 1,393 for its opponents in the 1974 season. The Sea Raiders have compiled a 24-1 record in three years of Bi-Valley League competition and have won the league championship the past two years.

The 1974 championship meet will be held at Red Hook Aug. 21-22. Hyde Park, Middletown, Red Hook, Salisbury and Wappingers Falls will have a combined entry of more than 300 swimmers in the championship event.

Kickers Advance to Finals

MORGAN HILL — Kingston Sport Club Kickers are among four teams vying for the Hudson Valley Soccer Championship Sunday at Oehler's Soccer Field.

The tournament format calls for four one-hour games, with the drawings for pairings at 1 p.m. and the championship contest tentatively scheduled for 4 p.m.

Joining the Kickers in the round of four are Yonkers Schwaben, White Plains and Clarkstown.

In the first and second round action, the Kickers blanked Rhinebeck 3-0 on two goals by veteran Jimmy Reinhardt and another by Johnny Robinson, then drew a second round bye. They then scored a 1-0 exhibition win over White Plains.

White Plains won by forfeit from Oneonta in the first round, then edged Saugerties 2-1. Yonkers Schwaben toppled Saugerties 3-1, as the Sawyers averted a shutout on Coach Tony Elia's goal but were zipped by Rhinebeck 1-0. It was one of the strongest efforts of the season for the Red Hook squad.

Clarkstown and American Czechs of New York met twice, with the Czechs winning the opener 1-0, but losing the second 2-0 to be eliminated from the tournament on the basis of goals scored.

A Kingston-Clarkstown finale is projected but this could be upset by the draw. Clarkstown has been outstanding in German American Soccer Association competition for the past several years.

Wonderbugs, Pet Parlor Thirteen-Run 'Stoppers'

KINGSTON — The Wonderbugs and the Pretty Pet Parlor each racked up 13-run stoppers on opponents in the Women's City Softball League. The 'Bugs blanked the Liberty Belles, 13-0 in six innings, while the PPP stopped Hudson Valley Savings, 27-14 in five frames.

Pat Benson posted 11 strikeouts and slammed a home run to lead the Wonderbugs to their seventh victory. Ellen Tresvik hit a pair of circuits, and Georgina Gantner hit another homer. The Belles managed only one hit in the contest.

The Pretty Pet Parlor erupted for ten runs in the fourth inning to take command of a slugfest. Debbie Miraldi and Joyce Bossong powered home runs to highlight the winners' 22-hit attack, while Judy Dolce clubbed one homer for Hudson Valley Federal.

Jeanette Ferraro outlasted Sheily Eck on the mound to get the victory.

Triangles Dump Sets, 25-22

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Triangles, getting victories from Peggy Michael in the women's singles plus Ken Rosewall and Vitas Gerulaitis in the men's doubles, put away the New York Sets, 25-22, Tuesday night.

In addition to Michael's upset win over Virginia Wade and the Rosewall-Gerulaitis triumph over Nikki Pilic and Gene Scott, the Triangles also got victories from Evonne Goolagong and Gerald Battrick in the mixed doubles.

The Sets built up a 17-13 intermission lead behind Pilic's 6-4 victory over Gerulaitis in the men's singles and Wade and Sharon Walsh's 6-2 women's doubles victory over Goolagong and Isabel Fernandez.

An announced crowd of 7,319 showed up at the Nassau Coliseum.

Your Astrograph

Thursday, August 15

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's going to upset domestic tranquility if you make an unexpected change that affects the family without first talking it over.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You will have to move for some errands that need doing. Don't be in such a rush that you drive carelessly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're still a shade too extravagant where your cash is concerned. Hide your checkbook for a few days.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Things at home won't be running like a well-oiled machine. If you're prepared for the unexpected you'll not get flustered when mishaps occur.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your hunches today aren't all that swift, which you'll learn to your dismay if you follow them impulsively. Think things through.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Novel or gadget-type things have a special appeal for you at this time. You might buy a white elephant you'll never use.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're apt to let a setback deter you from achieving something you want instead of looking for a new approach to get around it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Check over carefully any mental work you do today. Otherwise, a mistake will slip through that won't surface until later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) One who is indebted to you is likely to renege on obligations because he knows you'll let him off the hook.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have a rather undependable ally you're banking on more heavily than you should.

AQUAIRUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your work is still the area that's likely to cause you the most frustrations for the present. Be more methodical.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't mistake wishful thinking for reality. Don't count on something that has not yet happened as if it's already a foregone conclusion.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

RESISTANCE: (Q.) Dan is my little brother's best friend. He is 17. I am 20 and I love him. We have talked about ourselves with each other but I'm still not sure how he feels.

We do not date. He says any kind of a relationship wouldn't work for us because he is too close a friend to my brother.

I feel it could if he would only give it a chance. My brother says either way is all right with him. Do you see any hope for me?—It's Real in Rhode Island

(A.) I get the impression you are crowding Dan. Don't. Let him move or not move at his own pace.

If he does really like you, his friendship with your brother won't stop him. If he doesn't care for you, your loving him won't make him love you.

TOO MANY: (Q.) Jackie is shy about kissing and showing affection, and you can forget it if anyone else is around. Her girl friend is always with her and there's always someone else, male or female, in the car with us when I take her out.

What can I do?—Frustrated in Florida

(A.) Surely you can control who does and who doesn't ride in your car.

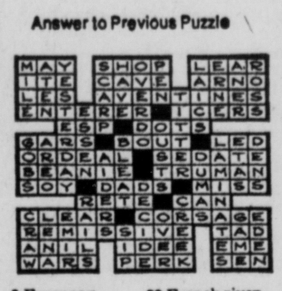

And as for Jackie's girl friend, tell Jackie you're tired of her tagging along.

Jackie will probably be glad for an excuse to get her out of the way.

Opening lead—J♣

Al Morehead used today's hand to illustrate his theory that you did not need to make an immediate jump shift, when you held a really tremendous hand opposite an opening bid. The bidding in the box is explained by him on the basis of South being sure that North would need the ace and king of spades for his jump raise.

Dick Frey adds a footnote to the effect that South could bid five notrump as the grand-slam force to ask North to go to seven with the ace and king of trumps.

There are any number of really modern ways to get to seven and there are also quite a few ways to misplay the hand.

The correct line of play is very interesting. South wins the club lead and plays his queen of spades. Then he leads out the ace of hearts. He sees that a 5-0 heart break is going to give him a lot of trouble, and that even a 4-1 break might ruin him.

His next play is a trump to dummy's ace. West shows out and South discards his king of hearts on dummy's king of clubs. He ruffs a low heart, enters dummy with the king of trumps to draw the last adverse trump. Then he ruffs another low heart; plays his ace of diamonds; ruffs a diamond and makes the rest of the tricks with dummy's heart.

Leopards may become "confirmed" man-eaters once they discover that man is an easy prey, whereas tigers and lions seldom attack man except when age or injuries prevent them from capturing their usual prey, The World Almanac says. Black leopards are commonly called panthers and are native to India. Spotted leopards live in Africa and Asia.

Corn Belt Seeks Disaster Relief

By United Press International

With the midland's drought eased by recent rains, the government has turned its eyes toward the economic aspects of the drought, which should be apparent soon at supermarket meat and produce counters across the country.

Nevada Gov. Mike O'Callaghan has asked Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to declare White Pine and Lincoln counties a disaster area due to the drought. He said it was the worst dry spell in 40 years.

The five-state corn belt was hit particularly hard. Indiana is the only farm belt state which has not yet sought disaster aid. Ohio, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska have written Butz seeking disaster relief, including loans, for drought-plagued agricultural areas.

The Agriculture Department issued a report Tuesday saying the outlook for supplies of livestock feed was "critical" because of untimely spring rains and the scorching summer drought. Domestic uses and exports of feed grains will drop sharply in the coming year and corn reserves will dwindle to about 350 million bushels — about a month's supply — by fall of 1975, the department warned.

Butz, in a speech to the World Poultry Congress in New Orleans, said the drought definitely would mean higher food costs.

"Earlier we predicted a 12 per cent rise (in food prices) above the 1973 level, but we will probably have to revise that upward a few percentage points to 14," Butz said.

The cattle industry was in a financial shambles, according to Fran Simpson, manager of the California Cattle Feeders Association. Drought and a market glut have cut down the number of cattle on feed lots, he said.

"Normally, as fat cattle are sold to meat packers, new animals are placed on feed lots. Since January, this hasn't been happenening and as a result, in California alone there are nearly a quarter of a million fewer cattle on feed lots being fattened for market," he said.

First Tropical Storm Sighted

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Alma, first of the Atlantic season, raced toward the storybook islands of Trinidad and Tobago along the east fringe of the Caribbean Sea Tuesday night, threatening to become a full hurricane.

At midnight EDT the storm was located about 250 miles due east of Trinidad and moving toward the mountainous island at 23 miles per hour.

The National Weather Service at San Juan, P.R., plotted the storm's westward course and found that if maintained, it would travel through a narrow 20-mile wide passage between Trinidad and Tobago, to the north, early today.

The 1.1 million residents of Trinidad and the 50,000 persons on the Robinson Crusoe island of Tobago were placed on hurricane watch, as were the residents of Grenada, the Grenadines, St. Vincent and Barbados, farther north. Small craft in the Windward Islands were advised to remain in port.

Seas up to 15 feet were reported ahead of the storm, and residents of Trinidad and Tobago were urged to leave the exposed beaches along the eastern coasts and take refuge on the lower elevations of the island's 3,000-foot mountain peaks.

Forecasters said storm conditions would spread to Grenada and the Grenadines later today.

Gale winds of 39 to 55 m.p.h. fanned outward for 75 miles to the north and 25 miles to the south of Alma's center, located Tuesday night near 10.1 degrees north latitude and 56.5 degrees west longitude, forecasters said.

The storm was first spotted about 1,000 miles southeast of Puerto Rico earlier Tuesday by a U.S. Navy hurricane hunter plane sent to investigate a tropical depression spotted by weather satellites. The site was about 1,800 miles southeast of Miami.

Dr. Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center at Miami, said, "It is moving unusually rapidly for this time of year and location."

Frank said it was likely the storm would intensify.

Rocket Barrage Near Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist gunners shelled a mental hospital and two villages near the sprawling Bien Hoa Air Base today, the Saigon command said.

Officers said the three-round rocket barrage missed the base, 14 miles northeast of Saigon, but gutted a mental hospital nearby in a direct hit, killing one patient and 14 other civilians and wounding nine persons.

Two rockets also hit nearby villages and wounded five persons, the command said.

Since last Saturday, 67 rockets have hit Bien Hoa Air Base, killing at least three persons. Military sources said nine F5 jets have been damaged by the attacks.

Bien Hoa is the major air base for the Saigon area. A large number of warplanes and helicopters are stationed there for use in the provinces surrounding the capital.

A Viet Cong spokesman, Maj. Phuong Nam, has said the attacks on Bien Hoa were to punish South Vietnamese forces "right at their staging base" for cease-fire violations.

He charged government forces had broken the Jan. 28, 1973, cease-fire declaration 3,121 times between Aug. 10 and Aug. 14.

He also charged U.S. SR71 reconnaissance planes flew over Viet Cong-controlled territory in northern South Vietnam last Friday. U.S. spokesmen, as usual, had no comment on the charge.

Communist forces stepped up their shelling Tuesday around Da Nang, 370 miles north of Saigon, the military command said today.

Spokesmen said 440 rocket and mortar rounds hit "several" government positions in four districts south and southwest of the port city, killing two South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding eight others.

The Da Nang area has been quiet since North Vietnamese troops overran Thuong Duc district capital a week ago, although government officers have predicted renewed heavy fighting and a South Vietnamese offensive "soon."

Egypt Ready In Case

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said today his country was prepared for a new outbreak of Middle East fighting if Israel stepped up its military preparations.

"We are preparing just as they are preparing, and the day Israel declares general mobilization we will do the same," Sadat said in an interview with Beirut's Al Sayyad news magazine one day after an Israeli naval raid against the Lebanese coast.

Asked about Arab press reports of Israeli troop concentraions and an imminent Israeli offensive, Sadat said, "It is a mere show of muscle intended for domestic consumption."

One person was killed and five injured in an Israeli gunboat attack Tuesday near the refugee camp of Al Rashidiyeh, Lebanese government and guerrilla officials said.

The Beirut Defense Ministry said one of the attacking Israeli vessels was hit by shore fire, but the Tel Aviv military command said all its boats returned safely after destroying an Arab guerrilla naval headquarters building nine miles north of the Israeli-Lebanon

SEARS HAS 'EVERYTHING'

'One-Stop Shopping'

"One-stop shopping" is more often advertised than delivered. But anyone who has ever leafed through a Sears catalog or walked through a Sears store knows that here is where virtually every need for every member of the family can be met.

The Sears store at Kingston Plaza is no exception. The staff is ready for those "back-to-school" days with large selections of clothing for every student in the family, male or college.

High school and college males will find a large selection of famous Kings Road flares and stylishly knit flare slacks in all sizes and a full spectrum of colors. Knits are comfortable for those long hours in classroom seats, and Sears has the selection to keep students trim and tight.

Near the slacks racks are large selections of coordinated tops to got with them. Short and long sleeves, colors that blend or conrast with slacks, quality that doesn't give out under constant washings, all mean good value for your dollar at Sears.

For younger, active boys, Sears has Toughskins, jeans that will take wear and tear. They're permanently pressed, too, to save Mom work. The "Winnie the Pooh" collection of clothing for young boys and girls is attractive, reasonably priced, and guaranteed to stand up under the hard wear that only youngsters can give to their clothes.

For those girls too old for kid stuff and too young for grownup styles, Sears has a "Junior Bazaar" where junior-size coordinates, mix-and-match ensembles, and single items give the in-between miss a chance to look good, too. Plaids, solids, and a variety of pants in junior sizes for regular wear and an attractive collection of all-weather coats for those rainy days keep the junior miss looking good all the time, no matter what the weather.

A complete line of shoes for the entire family includes fashionable styles for both sexes and all ages. Don't forget those sneakers for gym classes — Sears has a sneaker for everyone in the family.

Back-to-school bargains aren't limited to clothing, either. For that high schooler or off-to-college offspring, a pocket calculator might be just the thing to help with those knotty math problems. Sears has a large selection of calculators with disposable or built-in batteries, some of them capable of being recharged or operated on house current. A hand display board in the Kingston Plaza store gives the prospective math whiz a chance to try out the various models before making a choice.

Rudolph's . . . 'Right Time'

It's almost back-to-school time, but what time of day is it? Students need to help keep track of those precious hours and minutes, too.

Help keep the student in your family timely by visitng Rudolph's Jewelers in Kingston Plaza. They have a selection of watches for every age and every pocketbook.

Rudolph's has a full selection of famous Timex watches, known for their dependability and moderate price. Timex makes simple watches that do nothing but tell time, other that keep track of the days of the month. Mechanical winding models, self-winding models, and electrically operated watches in a wide range of prices make selections of an exact model and price easy.

Rudolph's also carries a line of inexpensive fashion watches for grade schoolers. They come with lucite cases in plastic trim, and are available in every color of the rainbow. You have a choice of conventional faces or the new digital, direct-reading faces.

Another gift suggestion for the back-to-schooler is a good pen and pencil set. Rudolph's has the well known Cross line of pen and pencil sets in a wide range of prices and made of everything from chrome to gold. Choose the price you want and you'll find a handsom set to fit it at Rudolph's Kingston Plaza store.

HERZOG'S . . . HAS IT

For Special Items . . . It's Herzog's

Perhaps you don't think of a hardware store in connection with sending your children back to school, but you should.

Does your youngster ride a bike to school? Herzog's in Kingston Plaza has bicycle locks to protect your child's valuable bike. Want something to protect books against those rainy or snowy days? Stop in at Herzog's and see their fine collection of Con-Tact Paper — its just the thing to keep those books protected and it looks good, too.

Do you have a son or daughter going away to college? Herzog's has alarm clocks to help get them up on time for those early classes.

It's the rare college student who doesn't supplement dormitory means with something of his own creation. Herzog's has snack jars that will keep that fruit salad, cottage cheese, pie or gelatin dessert cold and appetizing until its eaten. And consider an electric teakettle — add water, plug it in, and you're ready to make those quick ups of instant coffee or dissolve a package of soup mix for an appetizing lunch break.

An electric corn popper can make your student a center of attraction at school. How many young people are able to resist the sound of hot buttered corn popping? Sprinkle on salt and you have a meal in itself — guaranteed to draw a crowd.

Herzog's helps for the school age youngster aren't confined to things to eat. They have a wide selection of electric hair dryers and styling combs to keep that fashionable long hair looking nice.

And the younger set isn't ignored, either. Herzong's has a line of lunch boxes to fit every need, decorated with many of the kids' favorite TV and comic strip personalities, including UFO, Hot Wheels, Kung Fu, and the ever-popular "Peanuts" gang, featuring Snoopy, Charley Brown, Lucy, Linus, and all the rest.

STYLE FABRIC . . . 'ONE-STOP'

Text by:
Carl Graham

John Kruh

Style Fabric . . . 'Complete Line'

The Style Fabric Center at Kingston Plaza is a one-stop shopping center for the style-conscious woman who wants to save money and look good, too.

Do-it-yourself seamstresses have learned that a pattern, a piece of cloth, and a sewing machine all add up to distinctive, personally fitted clothes that can be had for a fraction of their cost if they are purchased ready-made.

Come into the Style Fabric Center and look around. A complete pattern selection for the whole family, with Butterick, McCalls and Vogue patterns, gives the potential seamstress a large selection and can be the sourse of ideas for new things.

With a pattern selected, the shopper has a large and varied selection of materials to choose from. No need to worry about quality — famous brand names such as Pendleton, Amana, Carletex, Crompton, Dan River Majestic, Cohama and Amity are your assurance that the material selected is of the best quality.

Select a polyester doubleknit in a solid or fancy print for a dress. Kettle cloth is fine for school and home wear. Children who are hard on clothing can be outfitted with long wearing corduroys in widewale, pinwale, or nowale.

If you're thinking of sewing something for evening wear, look at the nice collection of cotton velveteen and velvet for those dress-up occasions. A wide selection of colors assures you of being able to make it "just right" for you and someone in your family.

Top off your efforts with a selection from Style Fabric Center's large selection of buttons, notions, trim, and accessories.

You can decorate your home stylishly and economically, too. Style Fabric Center has the Hudson Valley's largest selection in stock of drapery and slip cover material. If you don't want to do the drapes yourself, bring in the measurements, select a fabric and color, and let Style Fabric Centers expert staff do them for you.

They will come to your home to make slip covers from a large selection of colorful, luxurious fabrics, too!

Card n' Party . . . New Ideas

Card 'n Party has a complete line of personalized stationery, just the thing for the student writing home for money. For those long days before the money arrives, give him a wall plaque with an inspirational message to keep his spirits up until the loot arrives.

A back-to-school calendar that starts in September is just the thing to help the student get adjusted to a new schedule. There is a space for every day where the student can mark down those important class times, interviews, and other matters that must be attended to without delay.

Card 'n Party has cork bulletin boards where reminders notes, or just trivia can be posted. Other gift suggestions include wall posters and pictures for livening up those dull dormitory walls, plastic coated playing cards, and shoulder bags for girls, handy repositories for those personal items they want to take along.

Come in to Card 'n Party and browse around. You might come with some other ideas for gifts for the departing student. You might spot something you've been meaning to buy for yourself, too.

FLAH'S . . . HIGH FASHION

'Shades of the Forties'

Shades of the late Forties! Bulky sweaters, those loose knit numbers that draped over the frames of high school and college coeds back in the days when most of the men were World War II vets going to school on the G.I. Bill, are back in style.

Flahs in Kingston Plaza is ready for the back-to-school exodus with a full line of bulky sweaters. Fems of the Forties had to borrow or buy men's sweaters to get the fashionable bulky look — but no more. Come into Flahs and see what the manufacturers have whipped up for the girls.

Pullovers in a variety of neck styles, with or without fur trim, and bulky cardigans in below-the-hip lengths are available in a wide variety of sizes and prices. Colors this year are running to earth tones — rusts, browns, golds, and dark greens, among others.

Another big fashion note for the gal going back to school is the use of velveteens for daytime wear. Veveteen, usually reserved for dress-up occasions in the past, is now available in pants and jackets at Flahs for every day wear on campus or in dorm.

A feature at Flahs is coordinated sets for college or high school girls. Such famous names as John Meyer of Norwich and Evan-Picone have ensembles with mix-and-match shirts, slacks, vets, blouses, sweaters and jackets in size 6-16.

For the younger girl in junior sizes, the Pandemonium shop at Flahs features bulky sweaters by Grandi of Italy. Knit skirts and sweater tops by Garland are a fashion note. Organically Grown, by Arpeja, features an imported line of Italian wool and acrylic sweaters, Joshua Tree of California has a distinctive line of dresses and pants suits for the junior size miss, too.

Younger school returnees are taken care of in the Children's Department at Flahs. Boys will want to look at the personalized line of football jerseys available in all sizes up to grownup. For a small fee they can have their own name over the jersey numbers, just like the pro footballers.

Girls will find coordinates in sizes 4-6x and 7-14. Polly Flinders dresses and Little World doubleknits in dresses and pants suits will send the young lady back to school looking sharp. Flahs has a complete line of New York Jets football gear including uniforms, warmup jackets, mittens, knit caps and gloves for the young boy. And if he isn't into football yet, look at the wide selection of Billy the Kid boys' slacks.

'Nothing Like A Good Hobby'

There's nothing like a good hobby to help Mom and Dad relax from the tensions of making a living and aising a family.

Toy and Hobby Shop in Kingston Plaza reminds parents that kids need hobbies, too. Especially during those long months in school.

With vacation time coming to a close and the school year about to begin, Toy and Hobby Shop invites parents to come in and shop for a hobby kit for the youngsters. There are hobbies for all ages on the shelves of the Toy and Hobby Shop — finger paints and Play-Doh for the little ones and a wide selection of models for the older child.

For the student who is beginning to show an interest in scientific things, Toy and Hobby Shop has chemistry sets and biological models that are a perfect leisure time supplement to school work in these fields.

For the still older child with an interest in art, Toy and Hobby Shop has a full line of Grumbacher art supplies. The prospective Picasso or dimunutive Dali will find the Grumbacher line a help in getting those masterpieces off the ground. Toy and Hobby Shop has a complete line of Grumbacher art brushes, oil paints, the new acrylic paints, pastel chalks, drawing pencils and color pencils.

Also available at Toy and Hobby Shop are canvas and stretchers, charcoal paper, watercolor paper, and sketch books of all sizes and textures to give the young artist a place in which to express himself. So encourage that youngster who show an interest in art or graphics—give him the best in equipment. Visit the Toy and Hobby Shop in Kingston Plaza for one-stop art shopping.

Plaza Merchants 'Extravaganza'

Have fun and make yourself eligible for several merchandise prizes as the Kingston Plaza Merchants Association kicks off its annual Back-to-School extravaganza for 1974.

Look on the front page of this tabloid section and you'll find an entry blank to fill out. You can either fill it out or visit any one of the stores at Kingston Plaza on Thursday, Friday, or Saturday, Aug. 15, 16, and 17, and register there. Either way, you'll be eligible for the prize drawing on Saturday afternoon. No need to be present for the drawing — winners will be notified by mail.

Prizes to be given away, courtesy of Plaza merchants, include such items as a typewriter, a hand calculator help you with those knotty math problems, footballs and basketballs for the sports-minded, a pocket camera, two transistor radios, and 10 gift certificates for $10 each, good at any store on the Plaza. Or you can use them to purchase a meal or to start a bank account, if you are the saving kind.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday the famous "Talking Bicycle" will be at the Plaza to meet and chat with children. The well known bike will be at the hut near the Walgreen drug store to chat with the kids about bicycle safety, a subject of concern to all parents whose children ride bikes in traffic. So bring the kids down for a chat with the "talking bike," the proven method of getting their attention for the important safety messages that could save their lives.

While you're here, register the kids for prizes, all of them related to bicycles and cycling. Prize winning numbers will be drawn Friday night and the persons holding lucky numbers must be present to win.

Waiting for the drawing can be pleasant if you use the opportunity to visit the Plaza stores and see the fine bargains that participating merchants have available.

The promotional bonanza ends Saturday, and the Merchants Association has scheduled a big parade for the occasion. The entire cast of characters from the "Peanuts" cartoon strip will be present for the parade, including Charley Brown, Snoopy, Pigpen, Lucy, Schroeder and his piano, Linus and his blanket, Peppermint Patty and Sally.

The entire "Peanuts" gang will be on foot for the parade, giving children along the route of march an opportunity to meet their heroes up close and shake hands with them.

The parade begins at 1 p.m. from the parking lot adjacent to Britts Department Store. Kids who want to take part in the parade are asked to bring their bikes to the parking lot at that time and join in the fun. The route of march is from the Plaza up West Brook to Clinton Avenue, along North Front Street and back to the Plaza, where it will pass by the various stores before going back to the starting point.

So parents, have the kids decorate their bikes and take part. The "Peanuts" characters will remain in the parking lot after the parade disbands to chat with the children and pose for pictures with them.
